

Anderson-Timbers vows in Milton church

Grace Anglican Church, Milton was the scene of a double ring wedding ceremony conducted by two ministers on Saturday, July 22 when Karla Iva Anderson of Milton became the bride of William George Michael Timbers of Acton. Rev. R. W. Foster, rector of Grace Church conducted the ceremony, assisted by the Rev. D.A. Powell of Medicine Lodge, Kansas, a former rector of the Milton church and a friend of the bride's family.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. J. Anderson of 43 Victoria St., Milton, and an RNA at Milton District Hospital. The groom, an employee of Dufferin Materials and Construction, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Timbers of R.R. 2 Hamilton, formerly of Acton.

Given in marriage by her uncle and Godfather R.C. Betteley of Kitchener, the bride wore a full length A line gown of white nylon organza with pink satin trim. A crown type headdress held the three-tiered veil which acted as a train. Her flowers were a cascade of two dozen pink roses with stephanotis and baby's breath.

Maid of honor was Charmaine Anderson of Milton, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were the groom's sister Karen Timbers of Hamilton and two friends of the bride, Diane Thomson of Milton and Mary Grace Le Donne of Milton. Flower girl was four-year-old Kelly Betteley of Kitchener, the bride's cousin.

Craig Timbers of Hamilton, brother of the groom was the best man. Ushers were the groom's brother Brent Timbers of Hamilton and two friends Doug Nayler of Milton and Les Lockwood of Milton. Ring bearer was six-year-old Robbie Betteley, cousin of the bride from Kitchener.

The girls wore formal dresses of flocked organza in soft pink and carried baskets of pink roses and white daisies. They wore floppy brimmed pink hats. The groom's attendants wore black tuxedos and white carnations.

Old, borrowed
The bride wore something old, new, borrowed and blue. She borrowed a 185-year-old 15 karat gold brooch with three diamonds from the groom's grandmother. Her something new was the wedding gown and she wore a blue garter.

Four generations of the groom's family were present at the wedding—Mrs. Jean Nugent, great-grandmother of the groom; Mrs. Elizabeth Timbers, his grandmother, and Ken Timbers, his father.

A reception was held that evening at Boyne Community Centre. About 80 guests attended the dinner and 110 were present for the dance. Mrs. Anderson, the bride's mother wore a pale blue floor length crepe gown with white accessories, and a white orchid. The groom's mother Mrs. K. Timbers wore a pale daffodil dress of satin backed crepe with a matching rachel knit coat, white accessories and white gardenias. Tables in the hall were decorated with three dozen colored carnations in crystal bud vases. Entertainment at the dance was provided by a local group The Knight Train. The first dance of the evening was the bride's favorite song, "More."

Leaving on a honeymoon trip through Eastern Ontario and the Ottawa-Hull area, the bride wore a two piece mauve and white knit outfit with a full brimmed hat and white accessories. Her corsage was a white orchid. The newlyweds have taken up residence at 122 Bronte St., Apt. 305, Milton.

Guests attended the wedding from Kansas, Acton, Georgetown, Guelph, Hamilton, Mississauga, Richmond Hill, Toronto, Oakville, Kitchener and Scotland.

Prior to the wedding two miscellaneous showers were held for the bride by Diane Thompson and Debbie Nayler.

County supports old school preservation

Support for the preservation of the old Bruce St. School in Milton continues to grow. Halton County Council endorsed the move Wednesday at their meeting.

Introducing the resolution, Burlington Deputy Reeve Dave Coons suggested the first stone school in the county was historically and architecturally worth preserving.

The move to have the school preserved and the demolition prevented was initiated by Vern Connell, a Burlington trustee on the county Board of Education. He suggested the school could be modernized inside and used for a government office building while retaining the historic and architectural value on the outside.

Kerr supports
Both county council's resolution and Connell's brief have been sent to George Kerr, Minister of Colleges and Universities. Kerr has endorsed the move and promised to explore every possibility to have the building preserved.

Nothing so needs reforming as other people's habits.

Skyline Trail Hikers of the Canadian Rockies—July 25—These are marvelous days. For the third day running, the sun has been shining brightly and I've been able to laze around (somewhat) and think.

I've been learning little bits and pieces from these hikers and am quite intrigued with their conversations. They seem to spend much of their spare time discussing trails, ridges, slopes, elevations, chimneys, and peaks, what territory they've covered and what they intend to tackle next.

Sunny awakenings
Yesterday, I woke to a brilliant sunny morning (incidentally, one of the things I learned was how to make a pine-bough bed) that made me feel indelicious enough to try a short, easy (they said) climb to Pharoah Lake, elevation 7,000 feet.

That "easy" trail was a slope that brought us tenderfoot to a full and gasping stop every 30 feet or so.

But the view at the top was spectacular! The lake, held in the curve of Pharoah Peaks, was still partly covered by ice, and snow lay in large patches all along the south shore, a shore made entirely of huge rocks.

I found a flat boulder, about eight feet square, climbed up on top of it and stretched out for an hour or so, watching the budding larch trees, against the sky.

The fishermen in the group and the fish became nodding acquaintances while their wives knitted or read, then all moved on to Black Rock Lake, leaving me on my own (and the fish intact.)

Hikers over Riders
Now this is where the Hikers have it over the Riders. While the latter goes out in one group, the Hikers split up into small groups, each with an experienced leader, and head out in different directions. Anyone who'd like a bit of solitude just has to let the leader know, then drop off (figuratively, not literally.)

Meets spry gent
One thing I'd looked forward to was meeting Bill Bagley, 72 years old or so, one of the great "old men of the mountains", who runs this camp. Unfortunately, he was feeling a little poorly, when I

Western trip
Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Anderson, Jim and Earl, enjoyed a motor trip to Jasper and Banff National Parks, through Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota to Winnipeg, taking a northern route to Regina, Saskatoon and Edmonton. They also took in the museums at North Battleford and a rodeo at Edson Alberta, returning home by Calgary and the Trans Canada Highway. They journeyed to the zoo, brewery gardens and aquarium and horsemen's hall of fame at Calgary. After returning home they went to their cottage at Belwood for a week to enjoy a rest.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Griffin and sons Richard and Bill, also Miss Karol Hunsley all of Mishawaka, Indiana left on Sunday morning for home after a busy week visiting many relatives around this vicinity and enjoying a day at Niagara and another at the Toronto Exhibition.

Miss Margaret Mills of Bromo visited for a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Bob Kerr, Christine and Jeffrey.

Fergus guests
Mr. and Mrs. William Butler, now of Fergus, attended the 25th wedding anniversary on Saturday evening for Mr. and Mrs. Willbert Brown in Ballinafad community hall and visited with Mr. and Mrs. Ward Hamilton and family. On Sunday afternoon they called on Mr. and Mrs. Harold

25th Anniversary
The family of Mr. and Mrs. arrived. His horse had fallen and rolled right over the top of him, the previous night.

However, he seems to have recovered somewhat. An hour ago, he shambled into the cooktent with a sour look on his face but a twinkle in his (blackened) eye to ask the cook if he could borrow her broom - - or was she planning on going for a spin?

And while he was sitting beside me having lunch, I noticed him mashing his tea bag vigorously around the mug. When asked if he liked his tea strong, he thought a moment, gave the bag another squish, and answered "No. I'm just trying to get all the scotch out.!!"
