

Comin's and Goin's

Hey now! It's welcome home to Mr. and Mrs. George Thomas from their three week trip to California where Disneyland, and the Grand Canyon were only part of their sight-seeing expedition.

until 8:00 o'clock and leaders and members have a welcome flag out for all interested Rockwood and district girls.

Another Rockwood lad is finding greener fields in another city and this time it's good luck and best wishes to Pat Meredith who set out for Sudbury and new position in the bank last weekend.

Another Rockwood voyager, Josef Drenters is writing home from Yorkshire, England where he is researching for background material for his proposed book on the life and times of William Wetherald. Have a great time, Josef and let's hope we get another exciting letter home on your new dive into Academy history.

Rockwood friends who knew Seth Armstrong of Acton were deeply saddened at his sudden bereavement and extend to his family their sincere sympathy.

Take a minute and send a "Hi" note to Frank Kelso who will be spending a few days in the Guelph General Hospital. Get better, Frank and we'll look forward to seeing you around again soon.

Looks as if the Upholstering classes will have to be scrapped for the fall Creative Art's Classes. Seems adequate facilities are not available at this time and ambitious students will have to re-apply their abilities to another field. Sorry about that, folks!

Remember now, folks! That string on your finger means that Tuesday, October 3 is Enrollment night for the Creative Arts night-school and classes in photography, needlecraft, Chinese brush painting, and yoga, will be open for grabs beginning at 7:30 p.m. until 9. See you at the Centennial school so let your name be at the first of the list for your favorite subject.

Village visitors passing the stone building located between the Mill End store and the Bailey home on Main Street are reminded of the happy days when it was the Weatherlane Antique emporium under the proprietorship of the late Don Stewart. Rockwood friends remember the expert antique and interior decorating specialist and were sorry to learn of his recent passing.

Everything in Rockwood is getting back on the proverbial road, and Monday was the beginning of another session of J.A. youngsters with approximately 30 girls and four leaders attending at the St. John's Parish Hall on Main Street. Leaders Nancy Beatty, Brenda Ingle, Betty Eason, and Sandy Root conducted a program of fun games to launch four new members into a season of junior auxiliary training for the September '74 season. More 6 to 14 year olds are invited for next Monday night at the hour of 6:30

Seek applicants for night school

Night school organizers are advertising this week for more applicants in bridge, needlecraft, pottery and typing. The upholstery and sewing classes are already filled. Organizer Boris Shean expects to have six classes going this fall with this extra "push".

Don Hills will be teaching the photography class for the creative arts program and promises the basic know-hows combined with exhilarating fun of field trips and sociability. Get in on the fun and make photography your thing for this season.

Campbell Thompson resigns from post

Campbell Thompson, clerk-administrator-treasurer of Nassagaweya Township, officially resigned from his position during the Monday night meeting of the municipality's Council. Thompson was named as Milton's deputy clerk last week by Milton Council. He was selected over four final applicants who applied for the position - the first in Milton's history. Nassagaweya Reeve Anne MacArthur thanked Thompson for his hard work during his time as clerk and wished him well on his new job. Named to his position in Nassagaweya in June 1970, Thompson had previously worked as the township's building inspector, zoning administrator and secretary to the Planning Board and Committee of Adjustment.

Although Thompson has officially submitted his resignation, he will continue on as the township clerk until the end of October. He assumes his post as Milton's deputy clerk Nov. 1.

During Monday's meeting Thompson said he enjoyed working for the township and would continue to view its future with interest.

Curls hold meet

The first meeting of the "Carrot Curls" was held on Monday the 25th at Sayer's house. The officers chosen were: president - Lorna Sayers, vice president - Lynne MacNaughton, treasurer - Lynda Sayers, reporter - Shirley Jacque, telephoner - Jane Munro. Shirley Sayers is our other member not holding an office and our leader is again Mrs. R. MacNaughton, who receives our thanks. Our subject for this club is "Dressing Up Vegetables" and for our first dish we had planned cabbage and Jello mold salad. These were pretty well liked, but our blended vegetable juice drink was not. We plan to try out many different kinds of dishes using a variety of vegetables. We are looking forward to our next meeting to try something new.

Sixth generation now live on family farm

Two anniversaries coincided with the annual Kitching-Watson reunion that was held Saturday at Kitching farm at the corner of 20 Sideroad and the Puslinch-Nassagaweya town line. It was the 50th anniversary reunion of the family and approaching the 60th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Kitching who still live on the family farm. The event was held at the original home of the late John Kitching and Ann Watson. Mr. and Mrs. Percy Kitching's grandson John runs the farm now and his children are the sixth generation to live on this property. John and Audrey Kitching have three children, Paul, Greg and Jay.

attended and John Kitching was chairman of the reunion this year. Although the Percy Kitchings anniversary isn't actually for another month they were presented with an engraved paperweight from the reunion.

150 attend

The Percy Kitchings' son Harold travels widely to under-developed countries under the auspices of the United Nations.

Among the guests were several who had come many miles to be there, Mrs. Irene Flake, a niece, from Inisfail, Alberta; a 94-year-old cousin Mrs. Elsie Cromwell and her nephew Kenneth Britton from Rochester, N.Y. About 150
