estates in Acton. The article gives details of the CMHC assisted home ownership program, which was announced in the Free Press months ago when the project began.

by Wendy Thomson
 Those "Women driver" comments are so common, (and sometimes so unfair) that most times I ignore them completely or listen in the same way that I do to young David when he talks about something like a five pound caterpillar.

A few days ago, I had a chance to prove myself as a fairly adept driver and did so with enthusiasm. Son Jim and I were at a friend's picking up some hay in the truck, and found, when preparing to leave, that the spot I was in was easier driven into than out of.
 It's a little complicated to explain, but I had to back up a muddy slope with friend's truck on one side (rather close) then do an abrupt left onto the drive without hitting his car on my right, parked on a 45 degree angle to his truck.

Wouldn't start
 I just got nicely lined up, when an alarmed friend came tearing up, muttering about women drivers, and tried to move his truck out of reach. It wouldn't start.
 Actually, I HAD been going to ask him to move his car, but after the muttering, I thought "All right, buddy, I'll show you." Ordinarily, such a maneuver wouldn't faze me, but with the hay piled in the back, I couldn't see where I was going, properly. The mud slope didn't help either.
 Anyhow, I backed out quite well, without juggling or hitting anything (or anyone). I needed a bit of a push up the last of the slope, but so would anyone. I couldn't help getting in a small dig about "Not bad for a woman driver, eh?" but maybe I should tell him sometime about all the stupid things I'd done, and make him feel better. Of course, most of that was long ago (like five years!).

Real law
 There was the time, for instance, when my old DeSoto wouldn't go, and Gord offered to push it with the truck, telling me to put the car in low when he honked. Halfway to the corner, he honked, I put the car in low and nothing happened.

At the corner, Gord came back. "What happened?" "Nothing." "Did you put it in low?" "Yes." "Are you sure?" "Yes." Then he peered in the window. Yes, the car was in low. He looked at me very oddly and said, "Have you ever thought of turning the key on?" then walked away mumbling.
 The old DeSoto is long gone now, and we have a little Rambler, — or at least, GORD has a little Rambler. I have the truck. It's a bit of a wreck, but I'm used to it. That's one reason I wear jeans most of the time. A skirt is pretty impractical.

Fashion states that, on entering an automobile with a skirt on (that didn't come out right, but you know what I mean) one should seat oneself first, then swing the legs (knees together) gracefully in. But if THIS one seated herself first, it couldn't be on anything higher than the running board, and that wouldn't work out too well. So I clamber.

Then, if it's raining, a passenger must sit with her feet on the seat and her knees under the chin to keep out of the drips.

Sealed tenders will be received by the Township Clerk, Delmar French, R.R. 1, Georgetown until 12 o'clock noon, MONDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1972 for 2 Trucks, G.V.W. 25,000 minimum on an hourly basis.

The hourly rate shall include: Operator, Fuel and all Operating Costs. An allowance of 1 hour per day stand-by time will be made to compensate for off days. Contract time from Dec. 1, 1972 to March 15, 1973.
 Lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.
