Year of firsts
For most of our boys—Frank Houston, Glen McKenzie, Scott Somerville, Dennis Blake, and Les Jones—this has been a year of firsts. It was the first time they won a Halton title, the first time an Acton school team has qualified in Peel Halton, and the first time they have run at the provincial level.

Congratulations Frank, Glen, Scott, Dennis, and Les. You've given AHS something to really be proud of. Good luck in your upcoming track meets.

second semester. Five members of our Track Team left on Friday morning to go to North Bay. The boys were entering a competition that involved most of the high schools in Ontario. They came home with very good results.

Drama dates
The dates for Drama Night have finally been set. After some discussion it was decided that the plays will run for two nights. The nights of the performances will be the 12th and 13th of December. Tickets will be printed up in the near future. Remember: December 12 and 13.

Mrs. Burgan, after three years as our cafeteria manageress, retired on Friday. A collection was taken among the students and Mrs. Burgan was presented with an AM, FM radio, a bun warmer, and a coffee tree with mugs, in appreciation of her faithful service.

I am sure she will be missed by many of us.

A.C.W. bazaar felt one of most successful

The Anglican Church Women's bazaar last Saturday in the parish hall was thought to be one of the most successful ever. Members were very pleased with the afternoon.

The attractive tea tables were popular; they were set up for the second year in the cosy redecorated downstairs meeting room. Pouring tea were Mrs. Ball, A.C.W. president Mrs. Lola Turkoz, Mrs. Penny Bristow, Mrs.

Mabel Denny and Mrs. Strongtharm.

Mrs. Louise Lindsay was tea convener. Mrs. Mae Fountain was in charge of baking, Mrs. Marie Hargrave in charge of crafts and Mrs. June Hunter had the white elephant table.

Door prizes
There were five door prizes this year. Joyce Sargent won the comforter, Sandra Weinster the doll and wardrobe made by Doreen Lindsay; Kay Alger the large box of candy made by Mabel Denny; Grace Townsley the flower centerpiece, Betty Oakes the lady's sweater and Mary Papillon the man's sweater.

Among the many attending the event were the Rev. and Mrs. Harry Dawson, who are no longer officially associated with St. Alban's.

October 10. It all started with a simple invitation. My husband came home and said "Would you like to go out to dinner the end of the month?" Granted, he did sound a little odd, but I put that down to the weather or something.

I accepted, and that was that. No problems there. But then a few minutes later he asked "Have you anything to wear?"

I assured Gord that I did. I'd even forsake my jeans— even freshly ironed ones— and wear a skirt for a change.

Then it all came out. In a voice weighed down with gloom, Gord explained that the dinner was a fifty dollar a plate testimonial "do" in Toronto. One that he couldn't get out of going to.

Although he didn't say it, I immediately caught on to the fact that I could go (spouses only cost $10) if I had something to wear. (THAT doesn't sound quite right, but you know what I mean.) We couldn't afford the dinner and a new dress both.

Nedust
October 11. Well, after disappearing into my closet for half an hour (which is pretty sneaky because we haven't got a closet) I've decided I can "make do" quite well with a bit of cleaning, polishing, and dusting off. I'd hate to go to something like that looking dusty.

Which reminds me, the car'll have to be washed.

October 20. That could turn out to be quite some day! It seems that I'll be at the Parliament Buildings during the day to take pictures of a local P.C. group and George Kerr. There'll be no point (and not time) for me to come back home and change before heading back to Toronto. Gord seems rather doubtful that I can manage both, but we'll see.

October 26. Everything's all set. I've packed evening clothes and all related stuff into a suitcase. Gord took it to Oakville and dropped it off at my mother's after work.

She's visiting my Grandmother this weekend, and will drop the suitcase off at my aunt's in Toronto on the way.

Hopefully
If all goes well, I'll leave Queen's Park at 4 o'clock, take a taxi to Vanna's, bath, change, and take another taxi to the Four Seasons—

A year of firsts for cross-country runners

Last weekend, Acton High's Cross Country Team travelled to North Bay, to compete in the OFSAA provincial championships. They placed tenth.

There are close to 600 high schools in Ontario.

only 25 schools qualified for the senior cross country.

Acton was the only Halton representative in the senior division.

our five team-members ran in a field of the best 175 runners in the province.

Keeping those figures in mind, finishing tenth at OFSAA is quite a feat. Add a five hour bus trip, 35 degree weather, and a course that coach Bruce Andrews called "the toughest course I've ever seen in cross country racing", and you'll appreciate our team's performance even more.

For most of our boys—Frank Houston, Glen McKenzie, Scott Somerville, Dennis Blake, and Les Jones—this has been a year of firsts. It was the first time they won a Halton title, the first time an Acton school team has qualified in Peel Halton, and the first time they have run at the provincial level.

Coach Andrews was very satisfied with the results. In fact, he feels that this is the best cross country team he's ever coached. "I've had better individual runners, but as a team, this is the best."

Acton High Notes

By Janice Gibson
Last week, we had four students and a few teachers from Norwich visit the High School. They were observing the way our semester system works. They, too, are on a semester system, but it varies slightly from ours.

Each student attended a different class in the morning. The high school in Norwich is not much smaller than ours and so the visitors did not find a great deal of contrast between the two schools.

Our Physical Education teacher, Miss Pool went on an exchange program to General Brock, last Thursday. Miss Pool spent two days teaching Rhythmic Gymnastics at the school and quite enjoyed it. She feels the opportunity should be made available to all teachers as long as it doesn't upset either school system.

Night school classes in Rhythmic Gymnastics for both adults and students will be taught by Miss Pool in the

Rev., Mrs Ball leaving town
St. Alban's parish is losing not only its rector, but its honorary assistant as well. The Rev. and Mrs. John Ball are moving from Acton back to Toronto the middle of this month. However Mr. Ball will continue to take services at St. Alban's until the new rector arrives the first of December.
