

250 attend yule Evangel program

Group skits, playlets, and individual recitations and songs, were enjoyed by approximately 250 adults and children last Friday night, all part of the Acton Evangel Tabernacle Christmas program.

"It was a wonderful evening" said enthusiastic Rev. Thoman who was delighted with the turnout of congregation members and guests.

During the program caroling with everyone participating aroused the Christmas spirit and, one of the entertainment highlights was a real live actress playing the role of the Babe of Bethlehem.

At completion of the evening which ran from 7:30

PLAYLET CALLED Christmas morning, written by Kathy Turkosz, was presented by her Sunday School class at St. Alban's Christmas concert.

St. Alban's concert

The assorted talents of church people were in the limelight Sunday when St. Alban's held their annual Christmas program in the parish hall.

The variety was much appreciated by parishioners and finally, after Muriel Holmes had led them in singing the First Noel, Rudolph and Jingle Bells, Santa Claus made his appearance.

Gift exchange for Auxiliary

Knox Alert evening group held their Christmas meeting on Wednesday evening following the devotion period business was discussed. White gifts were brought by the members.

Christmas cards were sent to shut ins and an exchange of gifts held among members.

Cheri and Shannon Lindsay presented tap dance numbers Up Up and Away and Shelley Lindsay's tap number was to The Unicorn.

Mrs. Sewell's grade five and six class gave readings of Christmas customs in other countries.

Tammy Hunter's number was baton twirling to Jingle Bell Rock and Sandy Hunter recited Guess Who's Coming for Christmas. Muriel Holmes sang a solo White Christmas.

Original play Kathy Turkosz had written a play in two scenes, The Christmas Present. It was presented by the grades 6, 7 and 8 class. Then Kathy Turkosz gave a mime number Jazz Baby.

What Can Little Children Bring was a recitation by the grade 3 and 4 class of Mrs. Punctureon.

Kathy Turkosz grades 1 and 2 class put on a playlet Christmas Morning. Jingle Bells was the appealing song by Dianne Drysdale's nursery class. Kathy Turkosz was master of ceremonies for the evening's program, enjoyed by participants and watchers alike.

Band, make spirits bright

A crowd of about 300 tapped their toes Sunday in the high school to the music of Acton Citizens' band and the Chorallers, in the traditional pre-Christmas concert. As always it ended with a gym rafter-reverberating version of We Wish You a Merry Christmas.

Informal commentary by bandmaster Dr. George Elliott gave the audience information about the players, junior band, and some of the guest conductors. These were band members Mrs. Ginny Bliss who directs the high school band and Chuck Wright. As well, sometime conductor here Art Hilliard came to conduct a couple of pieces but found himself in the chair of the absent third trombonist, filling in until he was needed at the baton.

His handling of the band in a medley of Negro spirituals, the CNE championship selection Songs of Wales and Jesus Christ Superstar was much applauded.

Exchange compliments Mr. Elliott explained Mr. Hilliard's own band, the George Harvey high school band, is one of the finest on the continent and will be playing in the international
