

Cub investiture at Eden Mills

Fifteen excited cubs saw three of their members invested last Wednesday evening at the first official event to be held at the Eden Mills community centre since the beginning of its partial restoration.

at attention while Akela Charlie Barnes, presented their ties, during which they recited the cub oath. Parents, brothers, and sisters watched the event when tree stumps topped with candles and a muck believe bonfire set the mood and then the boys lined up into teams to participate in a fun session of races and games.

Invested Earlier Haloo Bob Johns of R.R. 1, Rockwood, was officially invested into the Wellington cub pack by group representative, Daisy Timms of Guelph. Bob was a former scout master in Toronto and has only recently become involved with the local pack.

Christine Bell and Linda Benupre, and brownie Janet Barnes. The pack, which was re-organized approximately one year ago, is a flourishing group of youngsters keenly interested in cub affairs.

also on the agenda for the energetic committee but, according to June Barnes, present vice-chairman, "plans have not, as yet, been completed."

Comin's and Goin's

Saturday was a happy day for 25 Rockwood and district cub-types who were transported via three vans and a car to the planetarium in Toronto. Afterwards they slipped in next door to tour the museum. "Mummies and everything" was the excited response of the green cappers who'd had a wonderful time. "Congrats to the fathers" from parents who didn't go but were glad to know their boys were well attended. So it's a merry thanks to Glen Guest, Gunner Allerelle, and Ian Wallace, as well as Akela Vic Johnson who were the day's chaperones.

is the urgent request of the Lions whose long term vision is the community complex gradually getting off the ground. Also on the club's work list, is the collection of old newspapers slated for sometime within the next few weeks. "Get them all gathered and stacked" say the ambitious Lion men who will be naming the day in their favorite weekly newspaper.

Take part in festival

Wellington county will be well represented at the Junior Farmers' provincial festival to be held on Feb. 2 at the Royal York hotel when a number of district members will participate in some of the competitions.

Local competitors will take part in the public speaking, singing, dancing, and general talent competitions, and representing Wellington county in the folk singing festival will be Barry Hawn, Linda Anderson, Judy Ruffin, Betty Fotte, and Wendy Martin.

As well as contributing to the art photography display, district members will compete in the provincial square dancing event.

The event will mark the 30th anniversary of the Junior Farmers activities.

ACCEPTING THEIR scarfs and reciting their pledges three new cubs joined the ranks of the First Eden Mills cub pack last Wednesday night. Seeralking to Akela Charlie Barnes are Robert Cloutier of Eden Mills, Matthew Holmes and Helmut Jargstorf of R.R. 1, Campbellville.

Turkey roll shown to district Lionettes

How to roll a turkey was the unique program offered to an almost full-house meeting of Rockwood and district Lionettes last Wednesday evening with Dorothy Harding and Liz Thomson the culinary artists teaching the techniques.

complishment but felt it was disappointing that so few children had attended. Public speaking The Lionettes discussed the Effective Speaking contest to be held at the Guelph Cuten club on Mar. 5 to which they have been invited to attend as sponsored by the joint effort of Guelph and Rockwood and district Lions, determining the best student speakers from each school.

local ladies and a bake and tea sale will be held on Mar. 16 with location pending. "As we are a charitably oriented group we should be able to get the Rockwood town hall free of charge," said ladies at the meeting and it was agreed that one of the Lionettes would approach the village trustees for their consideration. "If we can get the town hall without cost it would be more feasible to hold it there," said President Haspes. If there is a change the sale will be held at the Rockwood Centennial public school and committee plans will include organizing the activity and advertising.

While the ladies prepared the bird, business was completed with president Irma Hospes conducting. Senior citizens' Christmas dinner, children's Christmas party, Ida Burns' night, were past endeavors discussed. Catherine McEachith, reporting on the children's party, extended praise to the Guelph Centennial drama club for their ac-

Once again the Lionettes will organize the Miss Rockwood contest for young ladies in the district to compete as the area queen. The contest will be held in conjunction with the annual Rockwood Springfest sponsored by the Lions club on the weekend of May 16 to 20 with a mammoth auction, garden, parade, and carnival, part of the activities.

Fines, treasurer's report, and a new hot dog machine being made by Gard Cox were also discussed and, as the meeting progressed, so did the turkey. From a fat, glossy 15 pounds, it was slightly reduced to approximately 11 pounds of exciting gourmet fowl consumption potential. A draw of $1 per ticket was made and, lucky winner for the prepared bird was Leona Kingsbury.

Centennial school

Last Friday our boys played volleyball against Ospringe with final scores reading: 15 to 12, Ospringe; 15 to 14, Ospringe; and 15 to 10, Rockwood.

A paper drive and the importance of co-operating in a community effort with the Lions, to collect all newspapers within the next few weeks was also on the agenda for consideration.

The evening was concluded with a short refreshment time as convened by Barb Bonner and Betty Eason.

The teams played again on Monday with the scores 15 to 14 for Ospringe and 15 to 13 for Rockwood, showing a total of 70 points for Ospringe; 68 for Rockwood.

Helen Hills was appointed convener for the first money-raising project of '74 for the Next Thursday there will be a girls' and boys' volleyball tournament at John F. Ross Colliery in Guelph. Parents are reminded about the Centennial School C.V.I. meeting at our school at 8 p.m. when grade eight students will hear about courses.

Grant

Organizations which intend to apply for grants from Halton Regional Council this year must have their applications in by Feb. 20.

The community services committee of council suggested that only those who were not satisfied with the decision of council need to apply in person. Chairman David Coons suggested some groups may be asked to appear before the committee to offer further information and justification for the grants.
