

Two performances on Saturday of sparkling annual ice carnival

HAYERS AND MILKERS combined actions with skating Saturday. They're David Smith, Paul Cargill, Jim Saxon, Steve Saxon, in front; Charlie Kinal, Derek Neely, Elliott Neuman and Ronnie Jackson at the back.

Again Saturday the winter skating season ended with a gay and glittering ice carnival at the arena. Two performances, afternoon and evening, produced delighted applause from the talented young skaters' families, neighbors and friends.

Pros Sally Leatherland, Karen Hofstede and Sharon Dwyer shepherded 150 youngsters on blades through the two part show. Old MacDonald's Farm brought out the most appealing tots as animals and vegetables, hayes, milkers and even barn dancers and scarecrows. The second half Holidays on Ice, puts the special days of the year flashing onto the ice surface.

Carol Campbell and Pat Streets headed the big group that did a magnificent job on costumes. Gabe Rosenbersky was in charge of the props, this year starring a gigantic birthday cake for Acton's centennial. Ed Leatherland supervised the music and "the voice of Acton" Ron McKnight was at the microphone.

Guest skater Ron Legault, western Ontario silver medalist compellor, also paired with Diane Baginski and Cindy McGilloway to demonstrate Senior Silver Dances, Paso Doble and Blues. Other guest skater was Kay Thompson of the Credit Valley Skating club.

Before a packed house of 800, trophies were presented in the evening to Juvenile Heather Michie, Novice Karen MacEachern, Junior David McGilloway and Senior Carol McKenzie.

SNOWFLAKE BALLET beauties at the skating carnival Saturday are Sharon Turkosz, Dianna Hickey, Kelly Payne, Kelly Buchanan, Cindy Brouillard, Lynne Kearley, Christine Baginski, Christine Allen and Susan Kinal.
