IT TURNED chilly on Sunday evening for the fireworks display at Rockwood Park. Residents of Rockwood were on hand to see the display, not to mention all the cars lining the side of the road on the fifth line.

Park free for walkers

Officially opened May 1, the Rockwood conservation park hosted numerous visitors this past weekend.

"Open daily from 9 a.m. until sundown seven days a week," is the word from assistant park superintendent Joe Randall. New rates for the local park are set at $1.50 for vehicle park entry throughout the week, and $1.75 on weekends and holidays.

"Senior citizens get in free during the week," said Joe. "But on weekends and holidays they pay $1.75 for vehicle entry." Last weekend showed many cars parked outside the park gates. Entry on foot is free.

Clayton Beswick was good gardener

Clayton M. Beswick of 128 Church Street in Acton died in St. Joseph's Hospital on May 4 after a three week illness.

Mr. Beswick was born in Erin Township on December 22, 1889. He leaves his wife, Myrtle, his children Alberta and Dick, three grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. He has one sister, Mrs. Ida Cole from Hespler.

Mr. Beswick was married in Rockwood on Feb. 14, 1917 to Myrtle Allen. For 23 years after his marriage, Mr. Beswick lived on the farm on which he was born and raised. He went to Hamilton in 1940 where he worked at Firestone for 18 years.

After retiring, Mr. Beswick worked at the CNIB, looking after their grounds. In this, he combined his gardening hobby with his job. Clayton Beswick was well-known for his garden, especially his roses.

Married sister Mr. Beswick's boyhood friend was Donald McLean who died last year. These two men married sisters in a double wedding ceremony on Valentine's day and the four enjoyed 55 anniversaries always getting together to celebrate.

Clayton Beswick was a life member and president of the Horticulture Society for three years, a member of the Royal Botanical Gardens and an elder at the Kingston United Church in Hamilton.

The funeral for Clayton Beswick was held at the Rummly-Shoemaker Funeral Home on May 7 with Dr. W. G. Orlow officiating. Interment was at Palmyra. Pallbearers were Mr.

Beswick's nephews, Lloyd McLean of Acton, Tom Brown of Erin, Bill McKinnon of Kitchener, Bob McKinnon of Erin, Lloyd Sandilands of Erin and Bert Allan of Georgetown.

Hillsburgh gets dentist

Dr. C. P. Mitchell, a graduate of the University of Toronto School of Dentistry, has opened his practice at the Hillsburgh Medical Centre. Dr. Mitchell has previously practiced dentistry in Downsview at the York Medical Centre, but the country life appealed to him more, so he accepted the position in Hillsburgh.

Dr. Mitchell is living near Eden Mills.
