

Rural Mailboxes

THE SILENT SENTINEL . . . the communications link . . . the nameplate . . . the mail box takes on its own individual identity as its forms vary along the rural roads of Halton, pending charm and interest to the traveller who sees in their difference the individuality of residents.

(Staff photos by Steven Dills)

