Refrigerators for town

The finance department in Georgetown and the municipal building on the Seventh Line will soon have used refrigerators installed. Council said some staff members can no longer go home for lunch since they have been transferred; so the refrigerators were needed.

Only one will be bought for under $100, the other has been removed from the fire dispatcher's apartment above the fire hall. The new dispatchers had their own refrigerator.

Intake great on auction items

Chesterfields, baby furniture, glass, chinaware, vintage implements, tools, wood stoves, dressers, items of antiquity, and a variety of "you name it's" are all contained in the amazing stock to go on the Y's Men's auction block on Saturday, June 15 at Acton community centre.

Six garages and a barn are reportedly full to capacity and the ambitious Y's Men are anxious to keep on the move. They list the phone numbers of Ross Tibbey at 853-0926 and Bill Campbell's office at 853-1530 as ones for pick-up for anything at all anyone feels is worthy of selling.

The local club boasts 30 years of annual sales with the first one started in 1944.

"Let's top them all with this one in '74," is how the Acton members feel. They said they began this year's collection three weeks ago, and are prepared to get their pick-up trucks on the road anytime. Auctioneer for the day, which will begin at noon, start-off time, will be a recent graduate of an auction school in the U.S.A. "He's a Milton resident," said a Y spokesman. The sale will continue throughout the afternoon until every stick on the premises is sold. "Everything that's been donated for sale, that is," added the Y's Men humorously.

Population

First-time transients to the Acton area of Halton Hills must find the town a population surprise if they enter from either Hwy. 25 from Osprey or No. 7 from Guelph.

Signs on the outskirts of Halton Hills continue to register population as blank.
