March finds interesting features on Escarpment

Larry March, Ballinfad, is receiving valuable career training this summer in his work for the Niagara Escarpment Commission and having an enjoyable, interesting, and variety filled summer at the same time. March, 22, is a Resources Management student at the University of Guelph and is working with a number of other University students on summer work program jointly sponsored by the Escarpment Commission and General Foods.

He and a partner are carrying out a features and conditions survey of the Escarpment. The objective of the project is to designate desirable and undestorable features and to gather information which will assist the Commission in preparing its land use plan.

The area March is working in stretches from Ancaster to Niagara Falls. "It's a little different from most of the areas being examined since it is mostly urban and industrial. We can't be that critical of the features because of this. The areas we have been able to examine are pretty interesting," he said.

Before they examine any area they go to naturalists and biologists who are familiar with the features in that location. After they know something about it they go out and take pictures and make observations. Everything is then put into a report which is filed with the Commission. They will also hike into woodlots and other areas so as to get a full grasp of the features and conditions.

March will soon finish his work with the Commission and leave for a two week stay in New Brunswick. While in the Maritimes he will be taking a course in Oceanography at St. Andrew's Marine College.

He is presently living in Hamilton and his parents reside at Lot 32, Concession 8, near Ballinfad.

Fire razes area shop

An early morning fire alarm alerted the Rockwood-Eramosa brigade at 2:30 a.m. last Wednesday morning when fire started in the garage owned by Mr. and Mrs. James Hayner of R. R. 4, Rockwood.

Owner of the garage had been welding when a can of paint started on fire sparking up the wall. The blaze was extinguished before arrival of firemen but, on investigation, it had not been completely quelled and services of the brigade were put to use. Damage was not estimated.

It is harder to be a good winner than a good loser—one has less practice.

NOT ONLY does the Station Hotel have a totally new look, but also new owners, Nick and Eli Kekke. These two brothers hired a Toronto designer, for the imaginative new front look while Ken Marchmont of Acton did the painting. The brothers have also made changes in the interior with new furniture and bar with other plans in the offing.
