

Silos Silent Storehouses

Dotting the agricultural landscape are the silent storehouses attached to many barns. Silos come in a variety of forms from the earlier bound wooden variety to the cement block and now the glass-lined types. They add an interesting appearance to every farm yard as well as serving an important function in agriculture.

(Staff Photos by Steven Dills)

