

D'Amico, Slingerland marriage in morning

Sandra Philona Slingerland and Daryl Michele D'Amico were joined in matrimony in a morning service at Trinity United Church on July 20.

Sandi Slingerland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Slingerland of 149 Wynford Place, Acton, attended both public and high school in Acton, but moved to Edmonton, Alberta, six years ago. She is employed at Alberta Power Ltd.

Daryl, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michele D'Amico of Leduc, Alberta. He lives in Hudson Bay, Saskatchewan and works for the Simpson Timber Co. Ltd.

SANDI SLINGERLAND and Daryl D'Amico were married in a double-ring ceremony on July 20.

The double-ring ceremony was conducted by Rev. Michael Bennett of Guelph and Stirling, Ontario. George Elliott played the organ while Richard Cherry, cousin of the bride, from Ottawa, sang Oh Perfect Love.

The bride wore a long white crepe gown trimmed with lace and sequins. She carried a bouquet of cascading yellow roses around white orchids.

Elizabeth Atkey from Edmonton, Alberta, was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Debbi, Kathy and Margaret Anne Slingerland, sisters of the bride. Shelly Fraser of Edmonton, Alberta, was the flower girl. The attendants wore floor length yellow gowns with shasta daisies in their hair.

The father of the bride Lawrence Slingerland gave his daughter away.

Leonard Sheld of Hudson Bay was the best man. Ushers included David D'Amico, brother of the groom from Leduc, Alberta; David Harry, cousin of the bride from Stirling, Richard Cherry, cousin of the bride from Ottawa and ring bearer from Edmonton, Alberta was David Fraser.

An evening reception was held at the Acton Music Centre.

Wearing a long beige crepe gown and a corsage of rust feathered carnations Mrs. Laura Slingerland received for her daughter.

The groom's mother Mrs. Rita D'Amico wore a floor length floral chiffon gown with a corsage of pale yellow roses.

The bride's going away outfit was a navy pant suit and red blouse, with a single orchid corsage.

The newlyweds travelled to a northern cottage for a week, returned to Acton, and then went to their new home in Hudson Bay, Saskatchewan.

Attending the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Slingerland from Frankford, Ontario, grandparents of the bride.

The bride's wedding cake was made by Phyllis Cherry, the bride's aunt and decorated by the maid of honor, Elizabeth Atkey.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding included the groom's parents Mr. and Mrs. D'Amico and David from Leduc, Alta., Linda D'Amico and Mrs. Dennis Quintillo from Edmonton, Alta., Len Scheidt from Hudson Bay, Sask., Mr. and Mrs. C. Berner from Gasport, N.Y., Mr. and Mrs. Richard Warner from Gasport, N.Y. and many friends and relatives from Ontario municipalities.

The bride enjoyed three miscellaneous showers, held by Elizabeth Atkey and Elsa Marie Frazer of Edmonton, Mrs. Linda Anderson, Mrs. Bernice Montgomery and Mrs. Isabel Martindale of Hudson Bay, Sask., and a joint shower with the bride's sister Kathy by Mrs. Joyce Wild and Mrs. Stella Wallace.

Cheques out with refund

Cheques have gone out refunding donations to the Buy-a-Brick fund instituted by the original Acton Centennial committee. Plans then were for the community centre improvement, and names of donors were to be engraved on bricks.

"The project for which these funds were received has been cancelled," the letter stated.

Meagher, Slingerland marriage in afternoon

Kathy Louise Slingerland and Gerard Joseph Meagher were married in Trinity United Church on July 20, by Rev. John May of Stirling assisted by Rev. Michael Bennett of Guelph.

Kathy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Slingerland of 149 Wynford Place in Acton is a secretary at Donland Dairies in Guelph.

Gerard is employed as a welder at Durose Welding Ltd., of Guelph. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Meagher of 9 Ontario Street, Guelph.

During the double-ring ceremony George Elliott of Acton played the organ while the bride's cousin, Richard Cherry of Ottawa sang The Lord's Prayer. This same song had been sung by the soloist's mother at the wedding of the bride's parents.

The bride's gown was of polyester crepe trimmed with lace and had long sleeves, a long train and a finger tip length veil. The gown was made by the bride. She carried a bouquet of cascading red roses.

Maid of honor was Deborah Slingerland, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids included Sandra D'Amico, sister of the bride, Margaret Slingerland, sister of the bride and Denise Meagher, sister of the groom. All the attendants wore pale blue gowns of polyester with white lace. They carried bouquets of shasta daisies.

The bride's father Lawrence Slingerland gave the bride away, for the second time in the same day. Ushers for the occasion were Doug Sharpe, cousin of the bride from Brighton, Paul Meagher, brother of the groom and Joe Bianchi.

An evening reception was held at the Music Centre. The bride's mother, Mrs. Laura Slingerland, received for her daughter. She wore a beige flowered gown with a corsage of rust feathered carnations.

Mrs. Nellie Meagher, mother of the groom, wore a long beige dress and a corsage of bronze baby mums.

The bride wore a dress of green knit with long sleeves and a corsage of rust feathered carnations, for her going away outfit.

The honeymoon couple spent one week at Pocono Mountain Resort in New York State and one week touring eastern Ontario.

In the wedding ceremony, two candle-bearers, Theodore Meagher, the groom's brother and Lyndon Sharpe, cousin of the bride, preceded the bride and groom to the altar. During the ceremony the bride and groom took the two candles and lit a third candle to symbolize that two lives had become one.

Guests attending the large reception were from Edmonton, Alberta, Hudson Bay, Sask., Lockport, N.Y., Belleville, Frankford, Ottawa,

Marzo, Kesselring plan to live in Boston

Daise Ann Kesselring became the bride of Peter J. Marzo July 27 at St. David's Roman Catholic Church. Rev. M. C. Farwell and Rev. Paul Eydtt officiated.

The bride, a graduate of the Mack School of Nursing, St. Catharines, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kesselring of 37 McKenzie Ave., Kitchener.

The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ilo Marzo of Acton. He will return to Boston University for third year studies in physical education.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was dressed in a traditional gown of candlelight organza over taffeta. The entire bodice and cap sleeves were of re-embroidered Alencon lace, hand-headed with seed pearls. Lace also trimmed the A-line skirt, attached cathedral train and full length nylon and illusion veil.

Her headdress was hand-headed with pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses, blue baby's breath and stephanotis with pale blue ribbon and lace trim.

Kim Kesselring of Kitchener was maid of honor for her sister, wearing a light blue A-line floral flocked nylon gown with butterfly sleeves. Her head-dress was a garland wreath of blue baby's breath. She carried a bouquet of white mums, blue baby's breath, blue star flower with ribbon and lace accent.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Phillip Marzo of Guelph, the bridegroom's sister-in-law, and Carol Ann Marzo of Acton, sister of the bridegroom.

Phillip Marzo of Guelph was best man for his brother. Ushers were John Rutherford of Peterborough and Ken Kesselring of Kitchener, brother of the bride.

A reception, followed at Cedar Grove Lodge, Erisville.

The couple will live in Boston, Massachusetts.

The first sod was turned for Georgetown Racquet Club last Wednesday. The 75 members are looking forward to a November completion of the $106,000 building. There are two squash courts in the private club.

when your rates are about to go up we think you deserve to know the reasons why

With most products you buy you never get to know about the increased price until you reach the cash register. The few pennies added to a can of this or that just seems to happen.

Now that we're forced to increase our rates we want to tell you plainly what's happening—and we want you to understand why we have to do it.

First there's the wholesale power we purchase directly from the Ontario Hydro generating system. This year it will cost us some 15 per cent more. A number of factors have forced this increase to us... rising labour charges, higher construction costs and increases in the cost of practically every industry or business you'd care to name are also affecting the generation of electricity. Our local costs are going up too. Lines, transformers, poles, gasoline for our service vehicles—all these essentials have been rising at an almost unprecedented rate.

In the past, we have been successful in absorbing many of these increases, rather than passing them immediately on to you. However, we've now reached a point where the present rates will not return sufficient revenue to cover costs.

Thus, in spite of the many economies we've made and will continue to make, we must now ask for a rate increase. An increase that will be sufficient to handle the rising costs outside our direct control.

Since 1970, the rates to Acton Hydro customers has not increased. In the meantime through careful management, the Acton Commission has absorbed four increases in the wholesale cost of power from the Ontario Hydro.

While it wouldn't be human to be pleased about any kind of increase, we hope you'll understand our position—and the reasons why we must make this adjustment in rates at this time.
