

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Johnston visited with Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Clark recently, and also enjoyed a trip north to Algonquin Park to view the beautiful autumn leaves.

Several groups of moose hunters are away north this week. One group has flown to a remote cabin well north of Elliott Lake to try their luck this year.

PAM FEENSTRA'S little dove likes to be stroked, especially when it's about to fall asleep in Pam's hands. This dove is one of three in the Feenstra household. The doves eat cornmeal and bread and live in a small trailer in the back yard.

overseas battalion held their 46th annual reunion at the Royal Canadian Legion, Orangeville, on Oct. 5. This battalion was recruited during World War I from Halton and Dufferin counties, and have held their reunions in different places continually since 1929. This year only 33 of the 750-odd who went overseas in April 1917 could be mustered. The age space of those present ranged from 75 to 95 years young.

Hopefully plans were made to return to the Royal Canadian Legion in Acton for the reunion in 1975.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Gibson, who have lived in England since the war, are back in Canada for a year and have been visiting friends here. He played in Acton band before the war, joined up and married an English girl while overseas. Friends were very pleased to see him again.

About 50 World War I veterans from Sunnybrook hospital, were entertained at the new Legion hall on Saturday by the Legion Ladies' Auxiliary. The Choralliers sang country and western music and a blind accordionist brought by the vets played for the group. Each man went away with a guest bag filled with chocolate bars, Acton centennial coins and other goodies. They were served a delicious hot roast beef supper by the ladies.

One of the men, a double amputee, was celebrating his 88th birthday. He received a special treat of a box of chocolates.

The group had been at the old legion two years ago. Last year a cheque for $200 was sent to the hospital.

There were also three World War I nurses present.
