

Faces of fascination . . .

Faces . . . in a group . . . or singly, reveal in the lines and expressions, in the frowns, squints, and smiles, the concentration . . . observation, keenness, or inquisitiveness. Faces are fascinating in the messages they silently signal. These are just a few interesting faces and expressions.

Staff photos by Steven Dills

