

COME ON GUYS, no pushing, and the Centennial school kids enjoy their noon-hour sessions of skating at the Rockwood park rink. Credit for the ice surface being in such great shape is extended to members of the local firebrigade in cooperation with the Eramosa recreation committee. Mark Johnson pushes off skating wrestlers.

DING-DONG AND TIME IS UP for Centennial school students enjoying noon-hour skating Manager Lloyd Dyer of the Eramosa recreation committee credits Wayne Nightingale, Bob Bolton, Danny Bolton and Bill Wingate, all firefighters, as being the co-operative group who have kept the ice in top shape. "Just a call brings bouts. This year's ice surface has been in more water when required from any of them, especially fine for the 1975 batch of athletes. says Lloyd Dyer. He started the surface by packing it down but the firemen have kept it up since that time around the first week of January.
