

HERE'S ONE smart swan who knows how to keep warm!

One room is enough

Halton Hills council will have only one room at the Good Roads Convention at the Royal York.

With only some members of the works committee planning to attend, council voted down the extra room.

Accordion music for '75 IPM

The Ontario Conservatory of Music advanced accordion band was honored recently with an invitation to perform at the World Plowing Match to be held in Oshawa in September, in conjunction with the International Plowing Match.

This band, although called the Acton area group, has members from all over the Acton, Milton and Georgetown area. They were among the many bands performing at last year's IPM near Georgetown, where they entertained with a wide variety of numbers ranging from light popular melodies to classical symphonic compositions.

Ford lays off 3800 workers

A total of 3,800 workers at the Ford, Oakville, plant will find themselves laid off again, just in time to receive their first supplementary unemployment benefits. Many of the workers effected by the layoff are Halton Hills residents.

The plant employees have worked only two weeks since January and have been waiting for over six weeks for their S.U.B. benefits. Laid off workers must apply first to the unemployment insurance commission before they can get S.U.B. pay. The S.U.B. is a special company fund which allows workers to receive up to 95 per cent of their regular pay after taxes less $7.50.

Happy birthday

A motion at Halton Hills seemed as if it was going to censure Councillor Ernie Sykes for being late for the meeting, turned out to be a happy birthday wish.

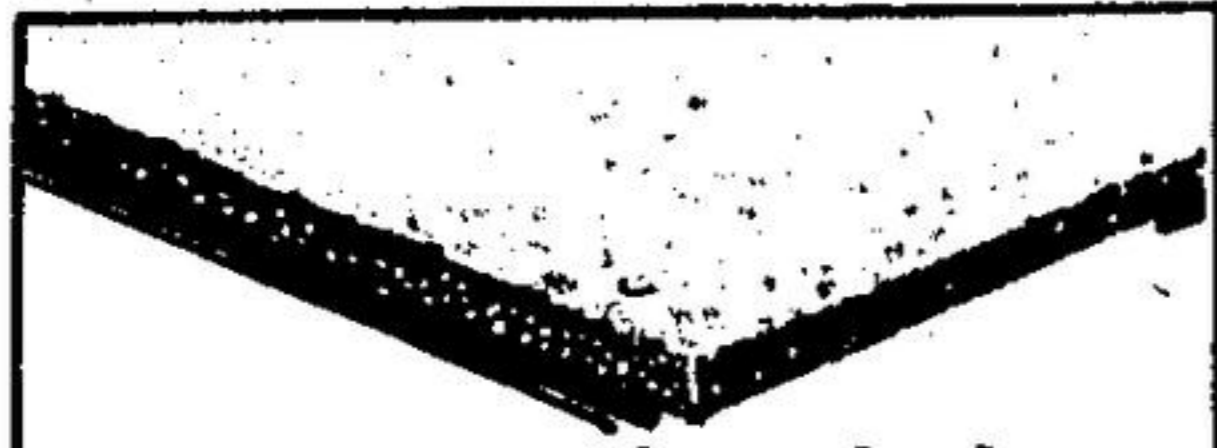

Council voted to overlook his tardiness "due to age", and wished him happy birthday.

Nobody thought to ask him if baker Sykes had to bake his own birthday cake.
