

Equipment for sale

Equipment no longer needed by Halton Hills should be offered for sale, finance and personnel committee agreed Monday night. They will recommend to council that ads be placed offering for sale equipment formerly used by Georgetown and Esqueping, such as posting and billing machine, receipting machine, cheque protectors and trays.

Deputy-treasurer Grant Usher felt a local small industry could be interested.

Adopt orphans in Halton

"Seven or eight" Vietnamese orphans have been adopted by Halton Region families, according to a spokesman for the Children's Aid Society of Halton.

She said Tuesday that two of the children were taken in by a single Oakville family.

The society in early April provided the names of 12 Halton families suitable for adoptive purposes, as the plane-loads of youngsters began arriving from Southeast Asia.

THIS puss-in-box couldn't resist becoming involved with spring cleaning.

Waiting for maps

Finance and personnel committee chairman Harry Levy showed some annoyance Monday that maps were not yet available for the committee to see while discussing hunting regulations. The required maps will show exactly where hunting would be permitted in Halton Hills. Villages and built-up areas would be excluded from hunting areas as well as the towns.

The bylaw has been on their agenda several times now.

Inn open in July

The Terra Cotta Inn should re-open its doors by July, owner Strachan Bongard announced this week.

Bongard said the famous old eating spot would probably open July 1, almost a year after it was ravaged by fire. Reconstruction costs, following the August 16 blaze, are in the neighborhood of $150,000. The work began just this month following approval of plans by various municipal and conservation authority bodies.

The building was originally a 19th century frame house before being converted to an inn in 1960.

Asks testing

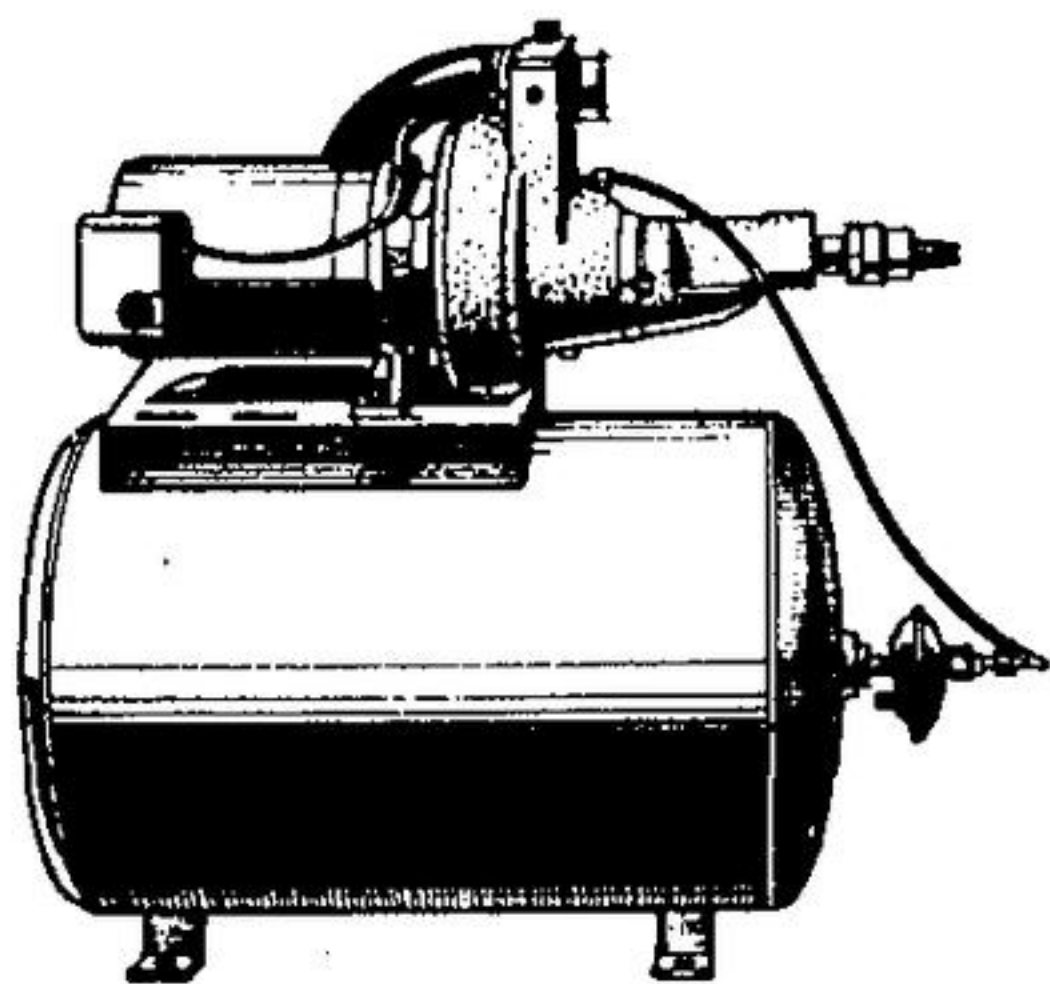

A motion calling for the return of provincially standardized testing and a more uniform curriculum across the province was defeated during a meeting of Halton Board of Education Thursday.

The motion forwarded by Trustee Dick Goodin would have urged immediate action on calling for higher standards and more uniformity in curriculum content for all grade levels.
