Mayor MacArthur told the board the town was in a real "crunch".

"We only have 15,000 people and we've inherited the responsibilities shared by many other people. We're in a real crunch and I don't sleep at nights. I don't know how we'll pay for it. I think we'll have lo ask the province for help," she said.

The mayor explained the town budget was only one of the factors effecting the mill rate. She pointed out education costs to the town would go up about $500,000 this year
