

Blossoms of Spring

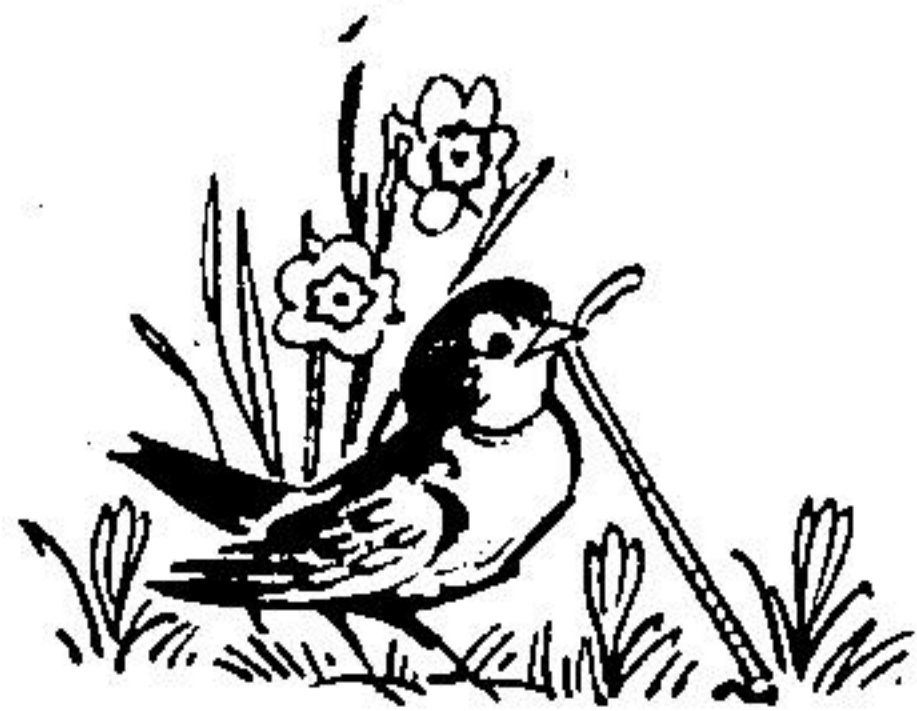

Renewal is in the air as spring sees the blossoms emerge with their promise of the growing season ahead. From the early crocus through the later daffodils, tulips, flowering shrubs and tree blossoms, the plants provide fresh bright color that mixes ideally with the warm sun to create the beautiful spring season that we enjoy in this area.

The blossoms are out on the trees and the pear tree is one of the many trees that bloom this time of year.

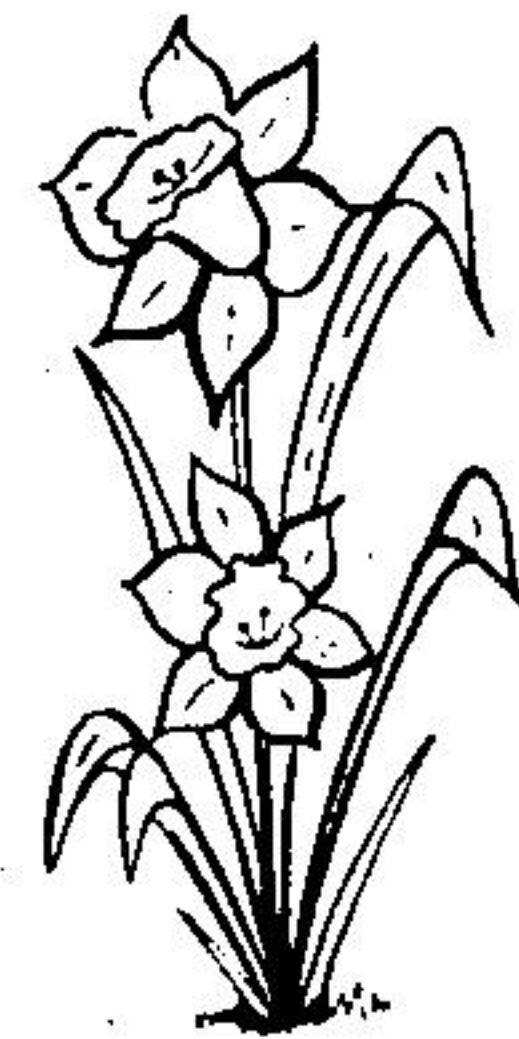

The woods also is a great place to see flowers. Here the blue violet soaks up the sun.

Gardens are the best place to see well taken care of flowers. The Ground Phlox comes out this time of year in many colours.

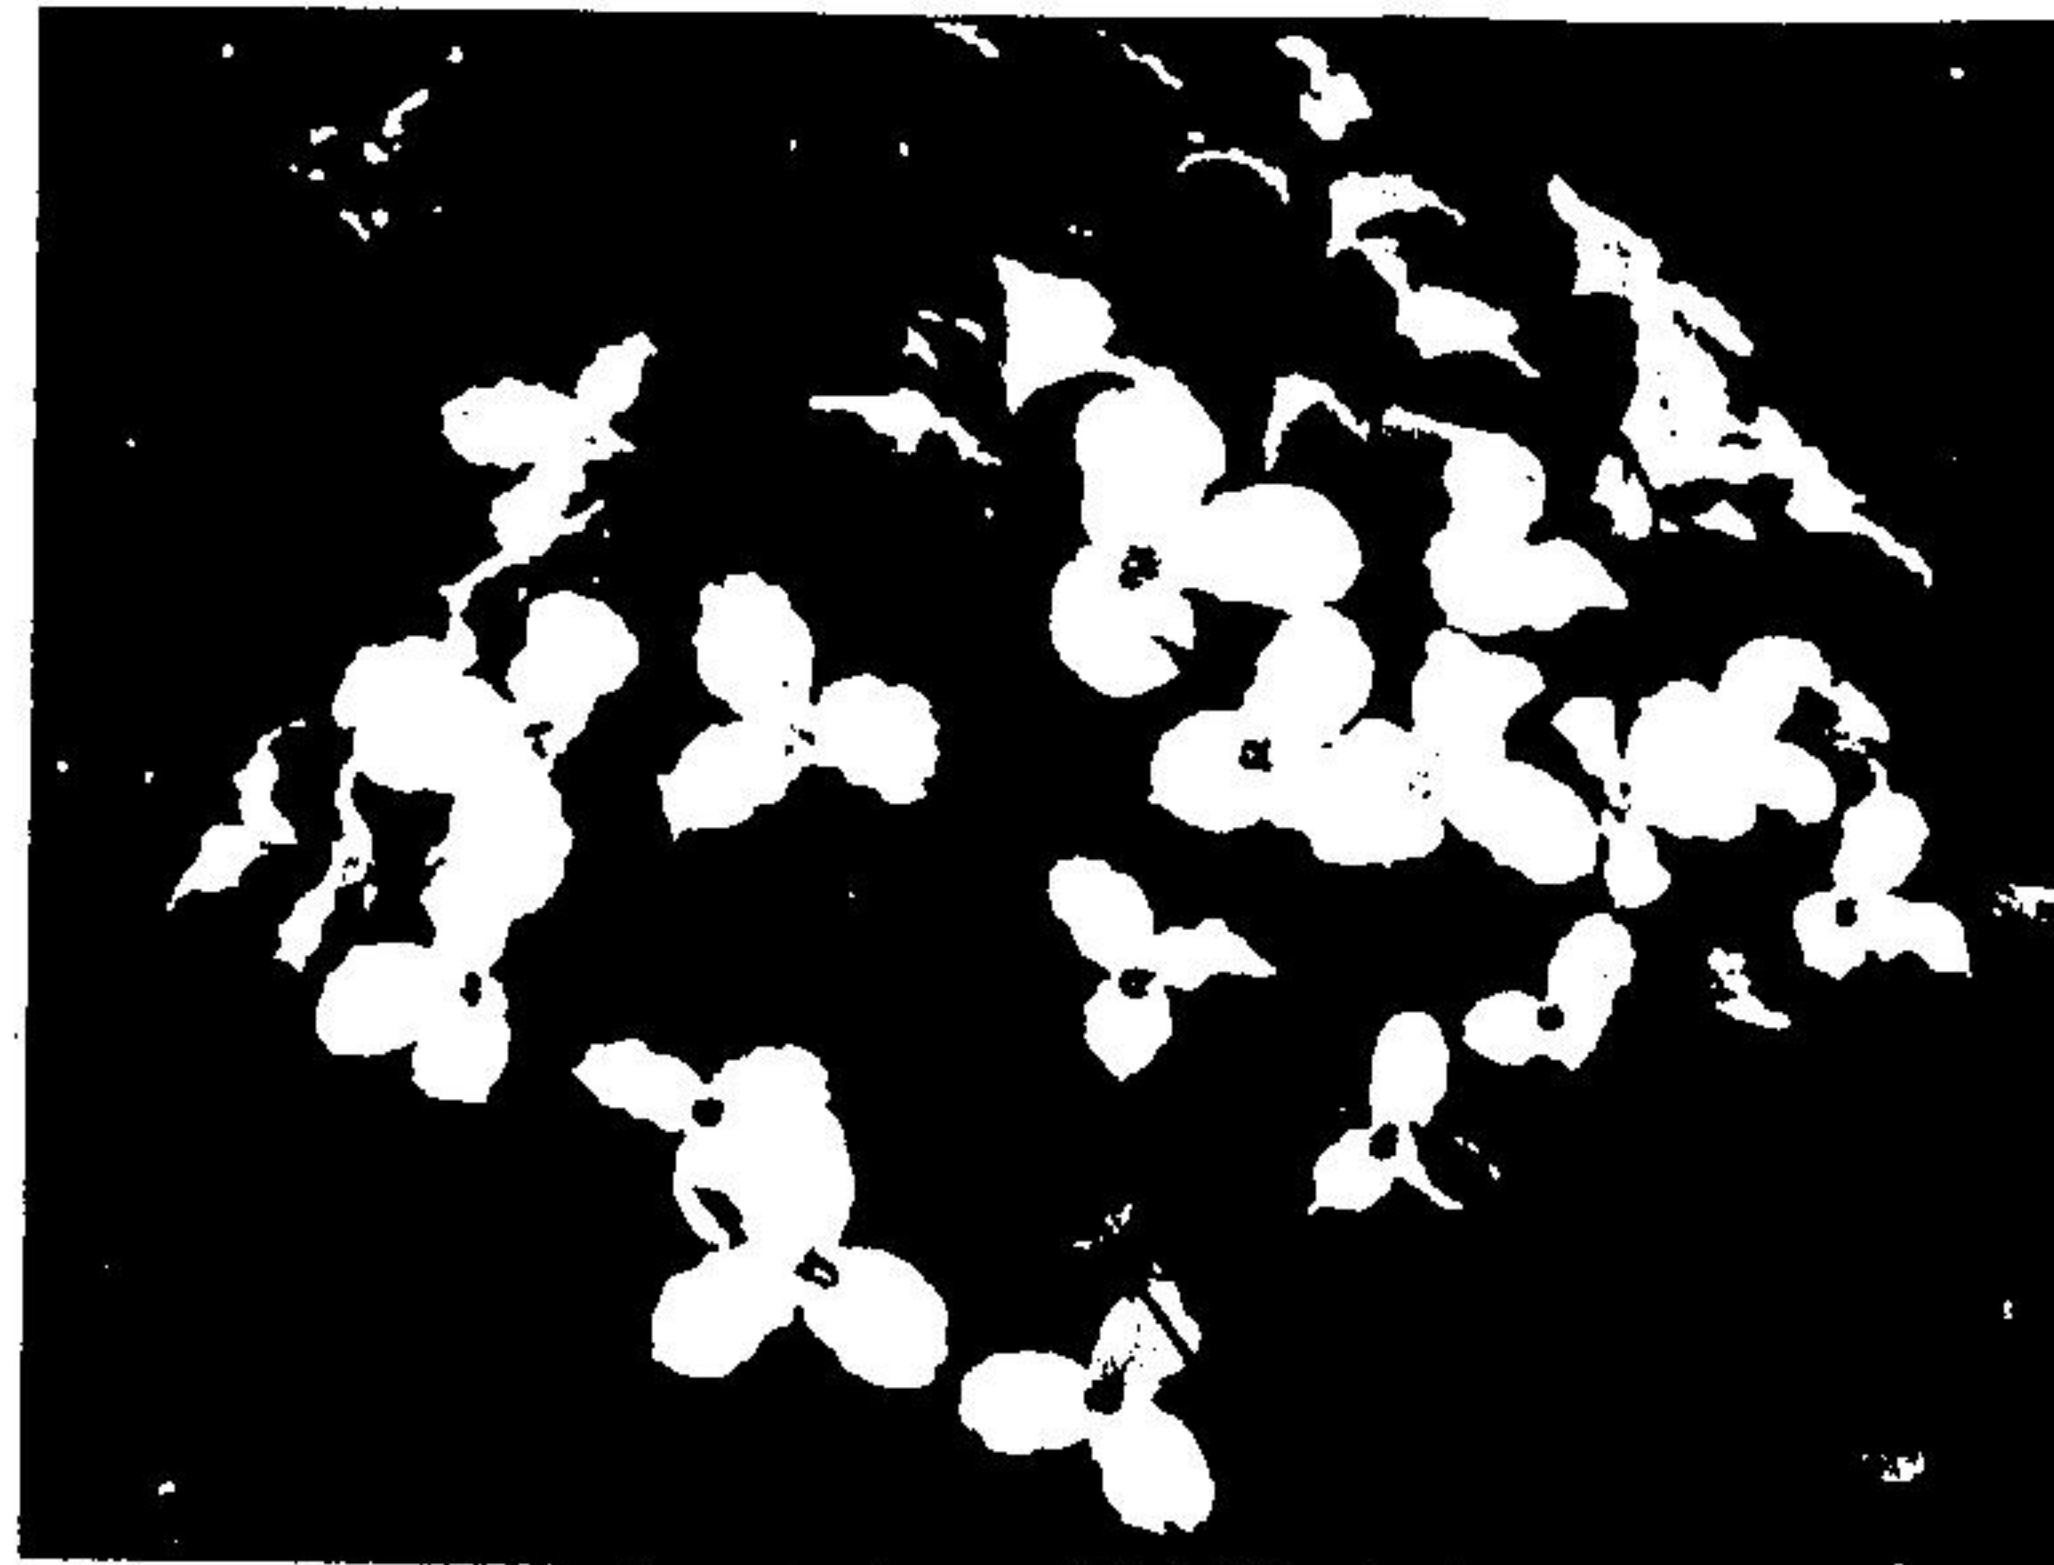

You only see the blossoms of the pear tree from a distance but have you tried looking closer.

People this time of year like to start their gardening, to set the

PHOTOS BY MARK DILLS

Ontario's provincial flower the Trillium still grows in abundance and we hope we'll stay that way so don't pick them.

