Elective programs for local school children

By Pam Sheldon
This year for the first time, the Halton Hills Recreation Department is offering a Summer Playground at the Speyside Public School grounds for a six week period. The program will take place daily from 1:30 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. and offers a wide variety of activities including arts and crafts, games, music, sports and weekly bus trips.

Don't forget that registration day is June 24 and 25 at the school grounds between 10 and 12 noon. There is no charge for your children to attend, however, if they wish to go on the four bus trips, a trip fee of $3.00 is payable at the time of registration.

There are numerous other summer activities planned throughout Halton Hills and the recreation program should be arriving any day now in your mailbox.

Elective programs
"I like it cause it's fun and it gets me out of normal school work", was the comment of Dana Taras, grade six student at Speyside Public School, during the last day of the electives program. In this program, the children are able to choose from a wide range of creative arts and crafts. The electives, a one hour session every Friday afternoon, is offered in addition to, rather than in lieu of, regular curriculum. The school draws from the community, volunteer parents and teens who have any special talent they can share with the children. Without this volunteer participation, the electives program would collapse.

Some of the courses taught during this last session were beginners embroidery, the art of batik, woodworking, cooking, decoupage, odds 'n' ends, card games and gymnastics.

However, a highlight of the electives was the wall-hanging class taught by Dolores Colbourne. The children in her class worked together to create a large wall-hanging for the school's hall from canvas and brightly colored felt. The theme of their wall-hanging is their proposed creative playground and their interest in this schoolyard project is readily seen through their work of art.

A hearty thank you goes out to all the people involved who make the electives program a worthwhile one.

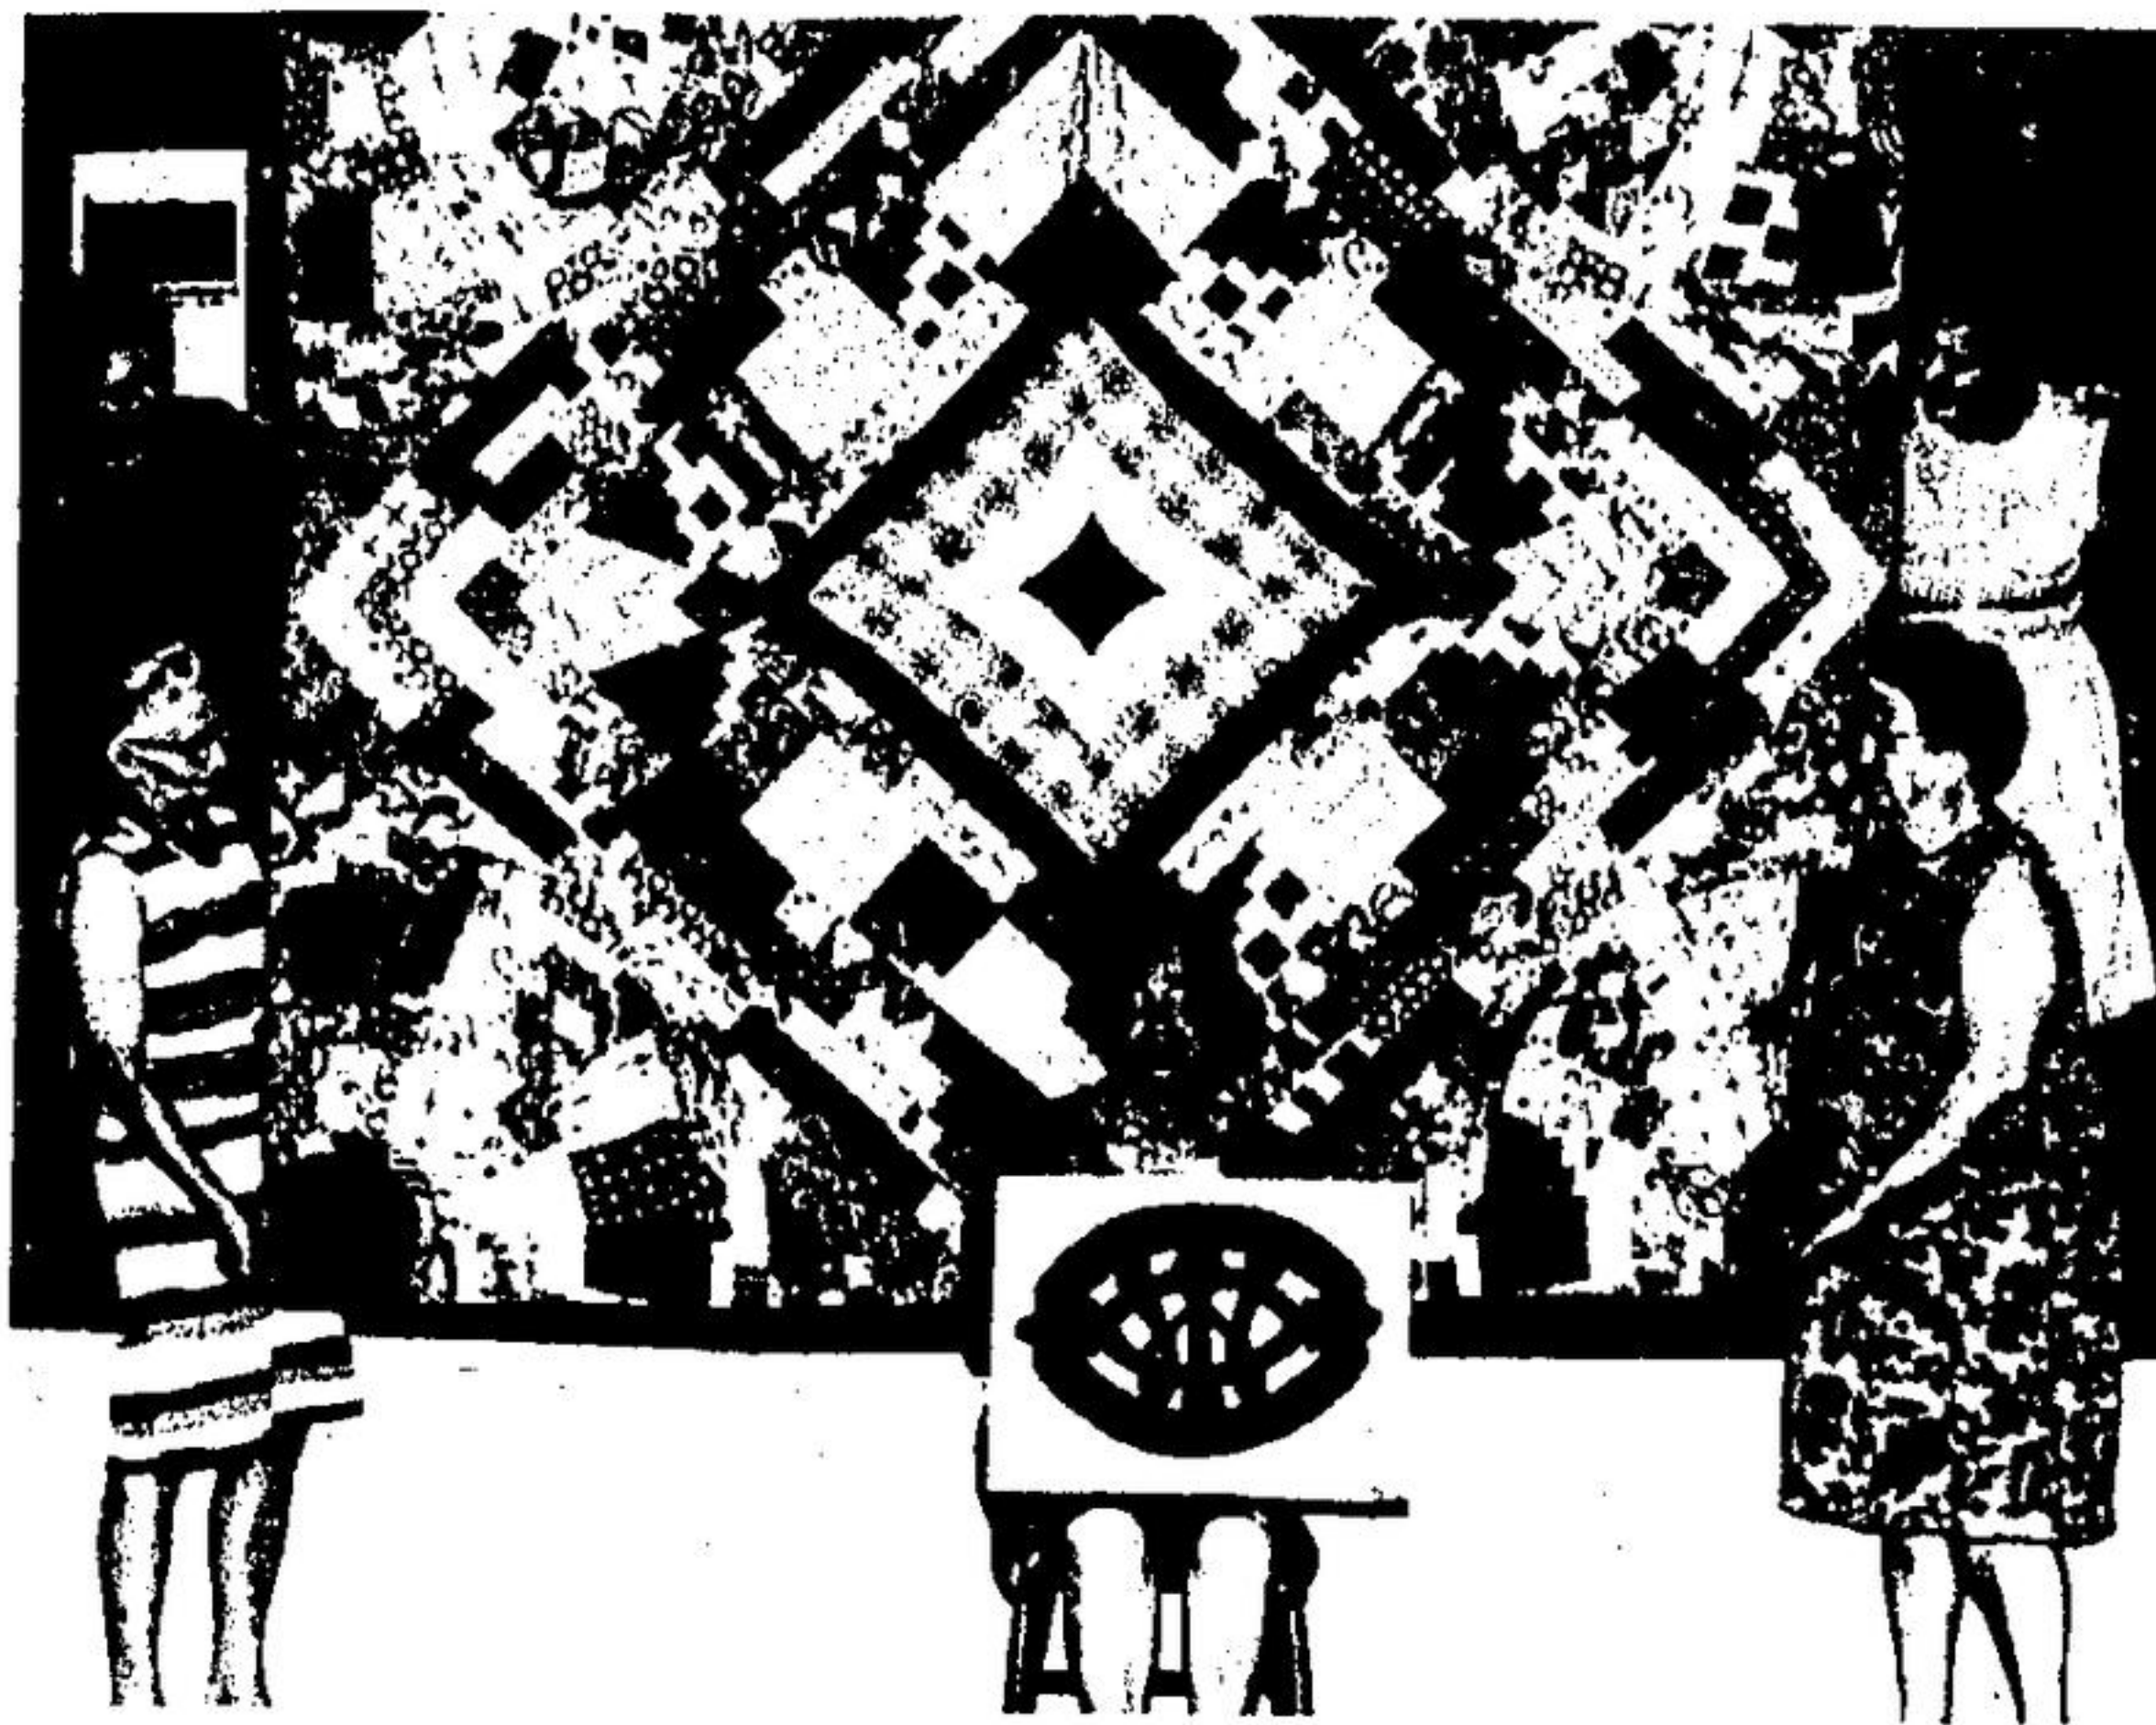

Interest sparked
The subject of Guides, Scouts, Cubs and Brownies has seemingly sparked a great deal of interest in the Speyside Area. The results of a survey made by Norm Howell, principal of Speyside School, showed an overwhelming response from parents who wish to see those activities extended into Speyside. Hopefully, this fall a start can be made to keep your eye posted on the Community Bulletin Board in the Speyside Store for more information on this subject.

Which reminds me, for those of you who haven't noticed it yet, a bulletin board has been erected in the store for use by the community so if you wish to find out what's going on locally, or to buy or sell anything, the board is there for your use.

Raise money
Debbie Sankey and Ann Berry, members of the Speyside Area Ratepayers Association, were hard at work over the weekend delivering flats of flowers and vegetables to local residents. The proceeds from this worthwhile project go to the Association to help in their quest to save the Speyside area from further quarry operations.

Many thanks to all those who supported the fund by ordering their plants from those two hard-working ladies. Here's wishing you happy gardening and a bumper crop in '75.

LIMEHOUSE I.O.D.E. quilt won first prize at the 74th district annual of Halton at St. Paul's church, Milton, on May 21. Front row, Mrs. Art Benton, secretary; Mrs. G. Booth, president; Mrs. F. Brown, district director and back row, Mrs. T. N. Anderson, work organizer and Mrs. S. Mileham (Yvonne Carr), artist designer, pose proudly with the winner. Many others helped make it, patiently piecing together the 860 blocks over a period of three months. The quilt is in the design of a stone bridge at Dolly Varden, and will be entered in the Guelph area competition in early October.

Lime Kiln depicted in winning quilt

Yvonne Carr designed the winning quilt for the Halton Women's Institute, chosen Wednesday at the Institute's annual meeting. A member of Limehouse W.I., Ms. Carr, a graduate of the Ontario College of Art, depicts a lime kiln in the award-winning quilt.

The village of Limehouse was named because of the active industry of lime burning. The dark patch in the centre of the quilt represents the hole in the top of the chimney-like kiln where cord wood was thrown in and chunks of quarried limestone rock dumped on to six feet above the top. The cone was plastered with clay to seal it.

Fire hole
The dark corners represent the fire hole where the wood was burned continuously for days to cook the rock to lime. When cooled, the lime was removed through the fire hole.

Limehouse

Institute quilt wins first prize

By Mrs. A. Benton
Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. G. Lumber on the arrival of a second little son. Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Kirkwood, Ronnie and Gwen were guests at the French-Kirkwood wedding at Trinity United Church and the reception following at Acton Meadows Golf Club on Sat.

Church services will commence at 9:30 a.m. on June 1 so that the congregation may join Georgetown in the observing of the 100th anniversary of the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

W.M.S. meets
The W.M.S. met at the home of Mrs. Crichton on Thur. eve. Text word, answered by a Scripture verse was palace, and Mrs. Kirkpatrick told the history of a number of well-known hymns. A special collection was taken for supply work.

Mrs. Roughley, pres., led in prayer. The meeting closed with hymn 81 and the mizpah in unison. Hostess Mrs. Crichton served tea and a tasty dessert afterwards.

Quilt wins
Mesdames Booth, Brown,

Anderson and Benton attended the 74th District Annual of the W. I. in Milton on Wed. The W. I. ladies are quite pleased on winning first prize for their pieced quilt depicting a lime kiln there. Mrs. Mileham (Yvonne Carr, A.O.C.A.) designed it; Mrs. T. N. Anderson organized the work; Mrs. Booth provided work space and a number of others joined in the quilting.

The junior grades of our local school enjoyed a trip to the Toronto Zoo recently.

Visitors with the Brian Forsters on Sun. included: Mr. and Mrs. J. Clarke of Shottley Bridge, Co. Durham, Eng. Mr. and Mrs. Lowther and son, Ian and his fiancée Miss Cheryl Smith, Miss L. Buckett and Mr. Ted Buckett all of Toronto, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Forster and

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Muxworthy of London.

Mrs. R. H. Mitchell accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Eason of Georgetown to Kingston on the weekend, where they attended the graduation of their son, Mr. Jeffery Eason from the School of Law at Queen's University.

Changes
We welcome Mr. and Mrs. Mackay to the neighbourhood. At the same time we regret losing Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Inglis and sons, but wish them happiness in their new home at Ballinfad.

We are sorry that Mr. F. J. Brown requires hospitalizing, but wish him a good recovery.

Mr. Thomas McAlpine is recuperating from surgery, and we wish him well.

The Sunday School children enjoyed a picnic on Sun.

Sunday's topic is "Real Problem"

by Mrs. Ron McLean
Rev. R. Finley's sermon topic was the Real Problem. There was a Broadway play, produced during a newspaper strike, so it had no publicity. It had no vulgarly, no sex; it was the Bible story in verse. The house was sold out every night.

The story of Job has dark mystery and black cloud. The victory of Job was that he came through darkness, when he thought God's face was hidden.

Book is a poem
The book of Job is a religious poem. The weakness of the Old Testament is the idea, that if trouble comes to you, it is your own fault.

Satan tests Job with the loss of livestock, family and health. Four friends tell him he must have sinned, or God wouldn't visit these troubles on him.
Paul, who opposed young

Christians in the early church, said, "I know that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus."

When darkness hides the face of God from you, hang on.
