

Salvage old sheeting for poultry building

About 15 members of the Agricultural Society had a work bee at the park Saturday. They had salvaged sheeting from the arena roof and were putting it on the sides of the poultry building. The steel siding wasn't in good enough condition for the arena roof but the fair board willingly took it for use on the walls of the old building which houses the poultry exhibits on fair day. The sheeting will later be painted grey to match the arena.

New roof
The men expect to have a couple more days work ahead of them before the job is done.

Veteran fair worker R. L. Davidson was one of the volunteers, as well as Lloyd McEnery who's just out of hospital.

The poultry building was originally the town's drill hall. It was moved from Bower Ave. to the park about 1994. From here the World War I soldiers left the town.

CUTTING TOOLS borrowed from Beardmore help prepare old arena sheeting for the poultry building. At work are Brian Evans, Brent Marshall and his grandfather R. L. Davidson.

Area residents hurt in Guelph accident

The latest report on conditions of two area residents, badly hurt in an accident Saturday, May 31, is that Elmer (Pete) Fisher, of R.R. 1, Guelph, was released from the Guelph General Hospital last Monday; his wife Abigail (Abbey), remains in the intensive care unit of the same hospital.

The accident occurred when the 1971 Buick in which they were riding struck a house on Fountain St., Guelph. The vehicle driven by Mr. Fisher was southbound on Gordon St. when it struck a traffic island and travelled a considerable distance in a southeasterly direction.

The car hit the south curb of Fountain St. and continued on, striking the front of the house at 5 Fountain St. According to reports, the Fisher vehicle was completely demolished at an estimated cost of $2,500. The outer structure of the building is damaged to an estimated $8,500.

According to Mr. and Mrs. Fisher's son, his mother is still in the lung machine in intensive care. The hospital reports she is "holding her own." Her son reports there can be absolutely no visitors.

Play ball on CVCA site

Limehouse will again have the use of the Limehouse Conservation Area for a ball diamond. The Authority gave permission not only for the continued use of the existing ball diamond, but approved a second ball diamond on the site.

Recreation director Doug Collier told Halton Hills administration committee there is no money in the budget for a second diamond this year, but the planning could be done at this time.

The CVCA letter pointed out the approval of the ball diamonds did not obligate them if development of the area is undertaken by them.

Pet of the week

PEBBLES, AN ordinary white house cat, was born deaf but it doesn't change the fact that she is a good pet to the MacDonald family of Roseford Terrace. Cheryl Ann MacDonald says Pebbles is seven months old and likes to eat salmon cat food. Pebbles has been with the MacDonalds the full seven months after being purchased from a Georgetown pet shop.

Obituary

Art Nightingale

A deeply respected member of the Rockwood community, Arthur William Nightingale of 131 Division St., died on May 10, in Kitchener-Waterloo hospital, after a five month illness.

Born on August 21, 1920, in Nassagaweya, he was the son of William and Charlotte Nightingale. On September 9, 1944, he married the former Moira Iona Vickers. During their 31 years of marriage they raised three children, Marjorie Griffenham, Main St., Fred McKenzie St. and Alan, all of Rockwood.

Besides his wife and children, Mr. Nightingale is survived by a brother and sister, Fred of Alma St., Rockwood and Lillian Simpson, Arthur, Ontario.

The well-known village resident served with the Rockwood and Erasmos fire-fighters for 28 years. He belonged to the Walker Lodge, Acton, and the Rockwood and District Lions Club. He was also a member of the Rockwood United church.

The Rev. H. Rees officiated at the funeral service held May 13, at the Rumley-Shoemaker Funeral Home, Acton. Representatives of the Walker Lodge attended the funeral. Interment was at Rockwood cemetery.

Palbearers were Bev Barfoot, Jim Hill, Dave Swackhammer, Herb Saunders, Earl Duby and Bob Noble.

POULTRY BUILDING'S old insul-brick siding only covered the two sides that showed from the park. Now sheeting saved from the arena roof project is going on all four sides and the building will be painted grey to match the arena. There was a work bee by fair board members Saturday.
