Library notes

By Mry. Inches Watson This just mouth, the Acton Public Library has been mescated with two books -2 from the Lakeside Chapter 3 10 DE. These books I am ame will be enjoyed by both Chapters 10 H.E. in Acton. The lanks are I O.D.E. The Third Twenty-Pive Years, 1970 1970 and also The Arms Plays, and Floral Emblems of Catarda. This week we have received three new sets of Encyclopediac namely Lands and Peoples, seven volumes, therey's Wonderful World of Knowledge in 20 volumes and also The Book of Popular Science in 10 volumes. These will be a great boon to our setant children with their great variety of projects on the go from September till? Acutu.

In our was fiction section. we have a wide range of new titles a play by Arthur Miller Incident at Viety; Richard Foster Flints-The Earth and its History, a inscinating study in physical and historical Geology; and L. G. Pinis History of The Highland Clans

For the young folk who enjoy wildlife we have Moose Magic by Miles Smeeton There is quite a well illustrated and interesting book by Bob Holliday, Motor Cycle Parade, showing ... models from 1890 to present day. The people who enjoy dabbling in untiques will be interested in How to Decorate for and with Antiques.

Our fiction shelves are boasting some of the recent books such as Nina Bowden's, George Beneath a Paper Moon, Richard Adma's Shardik, right off the best seller's, The Jaws That Bite by Anthony Pollier, North Star an excellent choice by Hammond Innes, William Westlake's newest novel The Bamboo Bed is proving so popular. Thomas Reagants, The Cuper, is a fascinating story of sheer suspense. Alec Tuvis has written a thriller, The Dukls Day. We also have another novel of suspense by Jeffrey Ashford, Bent Copper. The Double Dealers by May MacIntosh leads the readers -: through Scotland in a romantic suspense, dash of ; danger, Ganin Lyali writes a real mystery and his latest is Blame the Dead. Anne May- berry's latest is Jessamy Court, a book of romantic suspense.
