Northern Nassagaweya

Guelph- Milton call can go through OPP

A northern Nassagaweya (Milton) resident was upset last week because he couldn't use a toll-free line to telephone Milton O.P.P. after vandals tore out his mailbox. Allan Ackman, who has a Guelph telephone number, called the operator and asked to be put through to Milton O.P.P. on the toll-free line, but the Bell Canada operator refused. Mr. Ackman complained he was a resident of Milton, geographically and should be able to call his police department without paying a toll charge.

His concern was passed to William A. Johnson, president of Nassagaweya Area Ratepayers Association, who contacted this newspaper and Bell Canada's area manager Bill Barnes with the complaint.

also touring Halton seeing people he hasn't had a chance to meet with over the past few months. In addition he is going to spend two weeks camping with his family and will return to Ottawa a few times to work.
