IT RIDES WITH THE GREAT WESTERNS

YOU NEED AT LEAST 4" OF INSULATION IN YOUR ATTIC. Heat rises. If you don't have enough insulation in the attic, heat will rise through the ceiling, into the attic and be wasted.

At today's fuel prices that's expensive waste. It's going to get worse. The price of fuel is going up even more, according to both the Government and the energy industry.

Now is the time to do something about your insulation. If you have no insulation at all, you need Fiberglas Kraft-faced batts, which have a built-in vapor barrier. If you're adding to your present insulation, you can do the job easily with Fiberglas Friction-fit batts or Pouring wool.

Quiet wedding for Hume-Jestin couple

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized by the Rev. D. E. Whitehead in his Guelph manse when Nancy Louise Jestin became the bride of James R. Hume on July 26. A reception was held on August 10.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Jestin of Everton and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Hume of R.R. 1, Guelph.

For her wedding day, the bride wore a white gown and short veil and carried a bouquet of sweetheart red roses.

The groom's sister, Margaret Townsend, was her bridesmaid, wearing a pale pink gown with a wide brimmed hat. She carried a bouquet of pink rosebuds.

David Townsend was best man.

A reception was held on the lawn at the home of the bride, where her mother received wearing a beige gown and a corsage of yellow roses. The groom's mother chose a rose colored gown with a matching corsage mixed with white rosebuds.

Mrs. S. Hume of Arkell, and Mr. and Mrs. Max Milne of Rockwood, the bride and groom's grandparents, were honored guests.

Showers
Before her marriage, the bride was guest of honor at several showers. The first was held at the No. 8 school house by the community A shower was held by relatives, with relatives giving another. Two more were held by the office staff of the Co-Operative in Guelph where she works in the office and one by girl friends of the bride.

A stag was held for the groom by Dave Townsend and Albert Shay.

For travelling to the northern regions, the bride wore a pale green dress with beige accessories and a corsage of yellow roses and baby's breath.

Mr. and Mrs. Hume are now living in their new home in Everton.
