

ACTON'S CHILDREN'S BAND, an opportunity for Youth project, staged a concert on Mill St. in front of the municipal offices, Thursday for all to see. Under a hot sun, the group played tunes they had been learning all summer. Mary Watson, far left, did a fine job leading the musicians as many people watched.

No record of broadcast

An article on the front page of last week's paper concerning accused killer Donald Kelly incorrectly identified a Guelph radio station as broadcasting the story.

There was no record of that story originating from their studio. The Free Press apologizes for any inconvenience or embarrassment this error might have caused the people concerned.

Old movies at Limehouse

The early days of movies will be revived at Limehouse Community Library August 25, at 8:30 p.m.

In the summer festival of vintage comedies, the Keystone cops will hold one of their famous chases in the Desperate Scoundrel, and the legendary W. C. Fields will star in The Fatal Glass of Beer.

Buster Keaton, the deadpan come is the engineer on a locomotive in The General, while the king of the silents, Charlie Chaplin, will display his comedy and pathos in The Rink, as he chases a girl on roller skates.

In a fore-runner of Monty Python shows, the Goon Show will be seen Running, Jumping and Standing Still.

TINEKE VRYENHOEK holds on for dear life as people throw balls at a target. If the target is hit, Tineke will fall into a tank of water below. The dunking machine was a big hit at the playground penny carnival on August 13, at the arena.

Scout and Guide news

As the sun was sinking towards the horizon, Friday evening, 10 Boy Scouts arrived at camp on the Sixth Line, Esquesing, First Acton was starting its August troop camp.

The boys were split into two patrols with Jim Saxon in charge of the Hudson's and Geoff Saxon running the Panthers. Their secondaries were Brian Hogan and Eddie Blaser. The other campers were John Sit, Paul Carter, Jack Garten, Ken Genoe, Peer Semma and Scott Kowal.

The programme included construction of a rope bridge over the pond, estimating, water rescue and first aid. The boys displayed their lashing abilities by building three beds (raised off the ground), an excellent hammock, a patrol sign, a kitchen dish rack, a single stick and other amazing and not so amazing devices.

The cooking highlight was the Saturday night dinner. After lunch that day, Scouts dug a large pit and built a roaring bonfire. About 3.30 a five pound roast and potatoes were put in the pit, which was then completely refilled. We enjoyed medium rare roast beef, potatoes and corn on the cob just after six.

Scouters are especially pleased with this camp because the entire menu, program and preparation were organized by Pioneer Patrol Leader James Saxon. He certainly did an excellent job.

Many thanks go out to the parents who drove, namely Mrs. Garten, Mr. and Mrs. Hogan, Mr. and Mrs. Saxon and Mr. Carter. Without parent support this troop would not be as active as it is. Thanks again.

Typhoid none here

The recent rash of typhoid fever cases in Kingston and elsewhere caused some concern during a Halton Board of Health meeting Wednesday.

Burlington Councillor Paul Preston noted there had been 29 cases reported and most of the victims had attended the Light and Life Free Methodist Camp near Kingston in July.

Preston said he understood not all the campers had registered and noted that it was possible some of them were from Halton.

But Medical Officer of Health Dr. Joseph Chamberlain said there had been no cases reported in Halton. He said authorities were searching for a carrier.

A DOG WHO eats lettuce, carrots and grass? Even though it sounds more like a rabbit, Peanuts just happens to like that kind of food. He is a year-and-a-half-old half-Pomeranian-half Poodle who belongs to Lillian Graham of 152 Elmore Dr. Peanuts is jealous of the family's rabbit Wilbert, which may explain his odd taste in food.
