In the August 19 contest, atom pitcher Ian Paul struck out eight Lowville batters in three innings of pitching. Electricians win on slide umpire catches Hillier drop

It was the call of safe from umpire Sheldon Boonhour that awarded the first game of the men's recreational softball finals to Halton Hills Electric 6-5, as Bob Jarrett slid into home plate.

Van's Welding catcher, Ed Hillier tagged the runner, but couldn't hang onto the ball long enough to please umpire Boonhour. This gave the Electricians the run needed for the win in the bottom of the seventh inning.

Van's Welding took first bat and a home run by Gord Stanbridge and a run by Terry Masales gave the Welders a 2-0 lead. In the bottom of the second, Hugh Forbes, Bob Jarrett, John McKinnon, and Wally Ella crossed the plate for the Electricians, doubling Van's score 4-2.

In the third inning Van's tied the game with a run by Terry Masales and Ed Hillier smashed a homer to drive in the tie. Van's took the lead early in the fifth inning, as Hillier tallied another run, giving Van's a 5-4 lead. The final bottom of the seventh gave the Electricians the win, as a run from Dave McMillan tied the game and Bob Jarrett slid for the winner.

The second game of the final series will be played Sunday evening at Prospect Park.

A DEJECTED, befuddled catcher remains in position at the end of play in a game, which saw Halton Hills Electric edge Van's Welding for the first game of the Men's Recreational softball title finals.
