

Letter commends Storey family

Descendants of the late Thomas Storey and Elizabeth Hanna met again at Brookville Hall, Nassagaweya, on August 23 last. Before coming to Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Storey were natives of Antrim, Ireland.

A two minute silence was observed in loving memory of two relatives who had passed away during the past year. Hannah (Storey) Dunham, aged 93 years, of Santa Monica, California, the last surviving granddaughter of the above-named couple, passed away on January 21 and Maria Storey, wife of Tom Storey, age 93 years, of Grandview, Manitoba, passed away on February 16.

Certificate
The Ontario Government recognized the Storey family as one of the early pioneer families of Ontario and Gary

Dawkins, Progressive Conservative Candidate for Halton-Burlington Riding, presented a framed letter signed by Premier Davis to the reunion president, Andrew MacDonald, congratulating the family for keeping up the reunion for so many years and expressing the province's appreciation for its many contributions over the years to the community.

A plaque was obtained with funds from the 50th reunion with the Storey crest on it and both the Storey Plaque and the above-mentioned framed letter will be given to the new president each year to take home and eventually will probably be displayed in the homes of every branch of the Storey family.

Following a buffet supper, various races were held for young and old conducted by Warren Brownlee and a baseball game took place in the afternoon.

Program
The program commenced with Warren Brownlee entertaining with a couple of piano solos.

Susan Doughty gave a spur of the moment talk about the excitement which she felt when she won the Queen's Guinness with her purebred Hereford steer "Wilson" at The Royal Winter Fair last November.

Dorothy O'Rourke played several piano solos, including When Irish Eyes are Smiling and last but not least to the delight of all present Andrew MacDonald wearing his kilts contributed several lively Scottish solos.

The reunion came to a close with stereo taped music provided by Harry Kinton.

ANDREW MAXDONALD accepts a certificate from Progressive Conservative candidate Gary Dawkins signifying the 51st anniversary of the Storey reunion. Relatives gathered at Brookville Hall Saturday evening for the event.

Two resign committee

Two members of the Recreation Advisory Committee for Wards 1 and 2 tendered their resignations to Halton Hills administration committee Monday night.

With the resignation of G.S. Malcolm and Frederick Aberne the committee is reduced from the original seven to four. One other member resigned some time ago.

"I'm disappointed that these people are leaving," commented Councilman Les Duby.

The Recreation Advisory committee will be asked if they want the vacancies filled at this time, or if they prefer to wait until the town is advertising for a new advisory board at the beginning of next year. All appointments are for a one year term.

VISITORS to Rockwood will see many roadside stands advertising fresh vegetables, particularly sweet corn. Pam Ingle, Harris Street, says the family booth is doing a booming business, especially on holiday weekends. Many customers return often from the cities. Her father, George Ingle, also sells over 4,000 cobs of corn at farmers' market, each week.

Town designates priorities

Five months before the end of the year Halton Hills works committee has come up with two priority projects for 1976. Storm sewer work on Cleveholm Drive area and solving drainage problems on McIntyre Crescent have been designated must projects for next year.

PC's get $8,000

The Progressive Conservative Association for the riding of Halton-Burlington was $8,000 richer after receiving its share of proceeds from a testimonial dinner held in then Halton East MPP Jim Snow's honor.

The dinner, held last March, raised $16,000 and half of it was turned over to Halton-Burlington Tories.
