

Loses feathers but wins awards

Fred Kentner, R.R. 3, Acton, is a happy man these days, after chalking up another 70 or so wins in the C.N.E. Poultry competition. Top honors went to his Black Rosecomb Rooster, Champion of its division, as were his Bantam Leghorn Rooster, and Bantam Trio White Leghorn.

Of Kentner's entries, numbering between 70 and 80, all except two won First Place to Fourth Place ribbons.

However, he didn't return home with the coveted Champion of Show award, as he did two years ago. His wife Pat, said wryly "With the hot weather, they started to molt. I guess they didn't realize they weren't supposed to shed feathers at C.N.E. time!"

BLACK ROSECOMB rooster won top honors in its class at the C.N.E. for proud owner Fred Kentner. To his massive list of wins he added 70 more from this year's Ex.

Doris is back after trip east

By Doris Fines
This is the time of year when vacationers wend their way homewards, and holiday time will soon be over for most people, yours truly, included.

Soon after returning home I received a phone call inquiring what had happened to the Osprings news. On being informed I had been on vacation, the caller said, "That's the only reason I take the paper, to read the Osprings news. I just had to phone to see if you were all right."

Well, it's nice to know one is missed, so if you missed it, too, and enjoy reading about your community, let's all work together to put Osprings in the news. Tell me of your activities. Help me make it a good column. I need you all.

Holiday trip
My sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Henderson of Belwood, and my mother Mrs. Thomas Fines, accompanied me on a motor trip to Newfoundland. I could write pages, but sufficient to say that everyone was most friendly and helpful, from the policeman in Montreal, who, instead of giving me a ticket for an "infraction", directed me to the highway, which I had lost, with the admonition "Be Careful!"—to the taxi driver in St. John's with his advice when I started down a one-way street, "Don't go that way. Luv, you might get a ticket."

We had tea with a pen-pal in Sussex, N.B., enjoyed the scenery around the Cabot Trail in Cape Breton Island, and the 6-hour—100 mile ferry crossing to Port-Aux-Basques, Nfld.

It was truly an enjoyable trip, but one must see beyond the wilderness of trees and rocks, to read and understand Canada's newest province. The tangled tuckermore are trees pruned by the wind, and they provide shelter and warmth for the birds and small animals. The Avalon barrens is a desolate area, dotted with rocks and boulders on bare hills, which were left by the glaciers when they melted.

Hospitality
The Hospitality Homes where we stayed, made us most welcome. I was greeted at the door with "Come on in, girl", and enjoyed our friendly conversations. Unusual place names catch the eye, such as Burnt Berry River, Butterpot Park, Crooked Feeder River, and Come-By-Chance.

We drove home through Northern U.S.A., crossing at Buffalo, to complete a wonderful holiday.

Home again
We were very pleased to see Mr. Mike Dudnik had arrived home from his stay in Queensway General Hospital in Toronto. He has to take it easy, but it's nice for him to be home.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Schotsch enjoyed a week's vacation, going to the Thousand Islands, New York State, and sailing on Lake Clarendon, north of Kingston.

Anniversary
Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Howard are home from an enjoyable holiday in the United States. They entered the Atlantic seaboard at Jacksonville and visited St. Augustine, then saw the Apollo-Soyuz blast off at the Kennedy Space Centre. They visited many of the beach areas as far as Fort Lauderdale. On the Gulf of Mexico side of Florida they examined the main resorts between Naples and Pensacola. Nine days spent at Clearwater Beach were most pleasing.

Except for the lush fields of cotton and soya beans in upper Alabama, the lower part of the state had little appeal. The vacation areas of Tennessee, North Carolina and Kentucky were most impressive.

The couple spent their 50th wedding anniversary at Fontana Village in the Great Smoky Mountains. They had the novelty of staying over night at Cherokee village, a modern resort centre of the Cherokee Reservation.

During the entire trip of 3000 miles they found driving at the reduced speed of 55 miles per hour was very relaxing. The only disturbing factor throughout the entire trip was the high rate of exchange on Canadian currency.

Birthday
Karen McKinnon entertained Elaine Graham, Jenny Flinders and Jane McConnell, on her 12th birthday. They attended the Avon Theatre in Stratford and saw The Comedy of Errors. Lunch in the park, a visit to the museum, Shakespeare's Garden, and smorgasbord at the Victoria Inn, completed their celebration.

Town to move road

Halton Hills is going to be busy moving a road since it has been established a portion of the road is on an Esquising resident's property.

Robert Gordanier, Lot 26, Concession 9, complained to the town last June about part of the road in front of his home being on his property. He informed the town that each year works crew widen the road a little bit more and that he was planning to erect a fence separating his property from the rest of the road.

Engineer Robert Austin told the committee it would cost more to have a survey done than it would to make the road narrower. He noted there would no longer be a ditch but he doesn't think Mr. Gordanier will erect a fence once the road is off his land.
