Auction sale in area news

By Mrs. Ron McLean
Tonight (Wed.) is Ebenezer auction and bake sale at Brookville Hall, starting at 6:30.

Mrs. Keith Moore's many friends will be sorry to know she is a patient in Guelph General Hospital, and wish her a speedy recovery.

Sympathy is extended to Geo. Hewer and family, in the passing of his father.

Birthday greetings to Bill Diamond, Horace Blyth and Margery Amos.

Our Father

Rev. R. Finley's topic was "Our Father." Jesus's disciples noticed His shining face, after He had been away in solitary communion with God. They wanted to learn to pray like that. We have taken His prayer of contemplation, and rattle it off, without thinking. Young people wait for the day, when their potentiality will be revealed.

"What am I?" The scientist says, "You're a bundle of desires." Studdard Kennedy tells of the sea captain, who brought back a little cameleon in its natural habitat, it could not be distinguished from the leaves. When left home, the butler had people come in, to observe its strange gift of changing colour to match its position. When placed on a red cloth, it turned red; when on a green cloth, green. Finally, the poor little lizard was placed on a piece of Scotch plaid. It burst. We get caught up with tension inside, until we feel we are going to bust.

It is essential to settle on one thing. If we decide to put all our energies into becoming rich, we will find we still haven't found ourselves. If you realize you are God's child, there is unity for you; you know you are God's child.

When Jesus taught, "Our Father", He meant we should see others as brothers and sisters, in God's family. With all our faiths, the Father is present in us. S. Kennedy, again, was playing with his child. The child said, "Daddy, do it again." When we watch a lovely sunset, there may come a yearning for it to stay. But the sun must go down. It is eternal; it will rise again. Even Gordon Sinclair says, "There is something in each one of us, that draws us together."

Knows old ploughs

By Mrs. R. Shortill Sr.
I was amused with the picture in last week's paper of the plough. We had one on the farm here. Actually the regular share was removed from the plough and this share with the prongs was used to dig potatoes. It was called a potato digger then, certainly far removed from modern methods of harvesting the spuds.

Mr. and Mrs. Cebe DeWitt moved on Saturday to their new home near Fergus. The neighbour ladies met one afternoon last week to spend a few hours with Donna before her departure. The DeWitt home is sold to a young couple.
The U.C.W. catered on

Program organized busy beavers work

By Mrs. Pam Sheldon
Once again, Gloria Watson has organized a Keep-Fit program for local girls. If you will recall, last year's program was a super success and I'm sure it will be this year as well. The class will be held on Monday evenings at the school from 8:15 to 10 p.m., to commence Sept. 29. There is no fee involved and the ladies usually break for coffee mid-way through the evening. See you there!

Apparently, we have a handful of mothers in Speyside who are most interested in forming an active Home and School Association. A Home and School group can be most beneficial to an area and I hope they receive a good response. If you are interested, please contact Mrs. Linda Taras at 853-1980 after 3 p.m. weekdays.
I was speaking to Ron Beckett, principal of Limehouse public school, the other day, and he was telling me that the Sheridan Craft Trailer is due to be set up on their school grounds.

The craft trailer is a mobile studio for arts and crafts offered to the community by the Sheridan College of Arts and Tech. It will be at Limehouse from Sept. 19 to December and courses, beginning Oct. 1, will be offered.

Nothing can rival nature in fascinating methods of autumn colour changes.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Kendrick of Parry Sound visited with Mr. and Mrs. Dick Shortill on Friday.
Mrs. Lloyd Marshall is fast taking shape.
Candidate posters dot the country side. Will we follow the old tradition and vote as our forefathers did or will we reverse our decision and do a turn about. It's a tough problem for most of us, especially the young folk.
Red spots on the foliage of the maples are noticed.

fered in pottery, leather-work, weaving, macrame and carving, to name a few. Although day time courses will be attended by the school children, there will also be evening courses for adults who are interested. Registration forms aren't available as yet, but watch your local papers and your mailbox, for some further information.

about the lack of parental input at our local school. Time and again, in past years, Norm Howell and his own staff have worked very hard to put together informative evenings for the benefit of all the students' parents. And time and again, much to their disappointment, the same 10 to 15 faces appear. When you consider we have a student body of approx. 200 children, it makes one wonder where all the interested parents are. The parent/teacher evenings are designed for the sole purpose of having a meaningful interchange of ideas about anything that might affect, or be of benefit to, your child. This is where you can ask questions, and receive answers, about your own child; or discuss discipline, the 3-R's, or simply just keep yourself informed about what is going on in general at Speyside.

Communications

Of late, we've all heard a great deal about our educational system, its advantages, disadvantages, discipline, core curriculum, options and the like. One of the most frequently used comments of our educators is that the confusion on the part of the public is a result of the lack of communication between school and parent. We must all remember that "communication is a two-way street." We must not expect our schools to do all the communicating, merely to fall on deaf ears. If we are apathetic about what is going on in the schools, then we have very little right to complain about the system just because it's the "in" thing to do.

Within the next few weeks, the first parent/teacher evening of this year will be held at the school. The Principal and staff will be there and are most anxious to meet with you and discuss a mutual interest—your child and his school. Let's try to set our priorities straight, and for the sake of our children and their education, be there and "communicate!"

The point is, while I'm not presuming to pass judgement on the quality of our educational system (because it's not my field), I am concerned

Phone troubles in Churchill

There is no Churchill news this week due to troubles on the phone lines in that area.

The Free Press Tuesday called Bell Canada who immediately looked into the situation. After numerous calls on the part of Bell representative Willis Murray, Kitchener, no definite answer to the problems came up.

The phones were out of order from Sunday until yesterday (Tuesday) morning.

Mr. Murray explained to this paper that his office thought Mrs. Fred MacArthur, our correspondent might be right when she told them a receiver somewhere on the party line had been left off the hook.

Mr. Murray explained that the troubles had not been reported to them until the Free Press call and by the time Bell looked into the matter, everything was back to normal.
