

St. Alban's has happy concert

REV. LEN EWING invites the audience to join the pint-sized entertainers in carol selections. The result of the joint effort—a visit from Santa Claus, who heard the festive music and discovered its source at St. Alban's Christmas concert.

SANTA HAS words of wisdom for Kim Hagan at St. Alban's church.

NATIVITY SCENE is posed at St. Alban's church by Sandy Smith, Jill Morris, Gordon Goulding, Christine Hoare and Tammy Hunter. It was part of the annual Sunday School program.

SHARON LINDSAY and S. Claus struck a pose for the photographer at St. Alban's church.

St. Alban's church Christmas concert was a happy success again this year.

Rev. Len Ewing led their entire audience in carols and Santa Claus arrived at the end.

On the program, Shannon Lindsay presented a tap solo. The kindergarten children sang 'Away in a Manger.' Their teachers are Lorna Clarke and Anne Carr.

Mrs. King and Miss Blades' class of grades three to eight sang Christmas carols with Mrs. Sewell at the piano.

Nursery
The nursery children's contribution was 'The Little Drummer Boy.' Their teachers are Nancy Aldridge and Jane Dougan.

Grade one and two's, directed by teacher Linda Panchon, sang 'Happy Birthday Baby Jesus.'

Jill Morris and Christine Hoare presented a tap number.

Frank and Gordon Goulding played a guitar and accordion duet.

Jane Sewell played a piano solo, 'O Little Town of Bethlehem.'

Sandy Smith, Sandy Hunter and Tammy Hunter performed 'The Tennessee Wigwalk,' a soft shoe routine. The hall was nearly filled for the delightful program.

BARELY ABLE TO contain their excitement youngsters line-up to sit on Santa's knee during St. Alban's Christmas concert. Sitting right where everyone wants to be is 3-year-old Clea King, as her brother Jan, 4, awaits right behind her. Other interested observers are Steven Moss, who is holding his mom's hand, Mrs. Cecile Moss, and 9-year old Shannon Lindsay who is wearing a plaid skirt.

TINGING, DRUMMING, RINGING themselves into the Christmas spirit youngsters at the St. Alban's Christmas concert entertain an appreciative audience with seasonal music.
