Chops $4 million from budget

Halton Region's Public $40,000 would be enough to Works Committee chopped close to $4,000,000 from its capital works budget at a meeting Monday morning. Those cuts brought the $14,190,950 budget down to just over $10,000,000.

Major cuts were made in the areas of Burlington and Oakville projects. The committee trimmed $184,800 from Burlington sewer Oakville and Burlington work projects, and close to from several areas. Staff $3,000,000 from Burlington water projects.

have recommended that one base yard be established for both Oakville and Burlington.

Several councillors opposed the idea of one central yard, suggesting it would be cumbersome to transport heavy equipment over long distances.

The sum of $10,000 was left in as an indication that most members of the committee supported the idea of a

Mr. Raftis said more information is being sought about the possibility of expanding Site A, the current Burlington landfill area.

That site is favored because it is in an area where it wouldn't interfere with the lifestyle of any individuals. Subsoil tests are being taken at that and a number of other sites. Site A was discounted in earlier studies because it had been indicated that the Ministry of the Environment will not approve expansion of the site. Report today

Jack Corbett, chairman of the Technical Co-ordinating Committee said a report will be filed with the Public Works Committee at its meeting today (Wednesday).

Bulk buying report coming

Halton Hills treasurer Ray King is to prepare a report for council's finance and personnel committee on how much of its supplies the town buys in bulk at a saving from the Halton region.

Councillor Ernie Sykes raised the question at Mon-day night's 'committee meeting of whether the town is taking advantage of the potential savings.

King reported that it was advantageous to purchase some items from the region, but not everything.

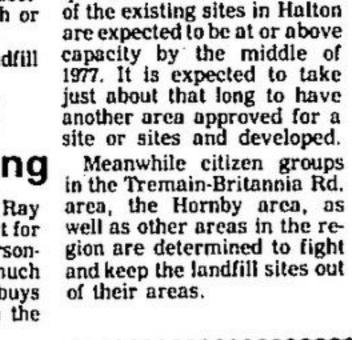

Sykes said he wants to find out how much of an advantage the town gets from participating in bulk buying.

Close doors for budget discussion

Halton Hills Council's finance and personnel committee began going over the preliminary draft of the town's 1976 operating budget behind closed doors Monday night.

Clerk-administrator Doug Pritchard told reporters copies of the proposed budget would be made public, as soon as the committee has had time to go over it.

The committee received the Halton Hills Public Library Board's budget request and referred it to the main budget discussion.

THE DROPS OF blood on the teeth of 'Metaphor', the six foot, three inch shark at M. Z. Bennett school do not come from student Dave Somerville, though from the picture, it seems they might have. They were in fact painted on by Dave and his fellow artisans Dave Rennie, Brent Vickery and Andy Ellerby who constructed the fearsome creature in six hours from chicken wire and newspaper. To add to the authenticity, the boys have even hung a skeleton from Metaphor's mouth.

Great garbage gambler visits

At least nine of Halton's 25 regional council members have committed themselves to taking part in the Great Garbage Gamble.

Tony Barrett of the Great Garbage Gamble appeared before Halton Regional Council Wednesday. Barrett has been given a lot of media attention throughout the province because of his involvement in attracting 35 of the 40 provincial ministers into the program. The Garbage Gamble is a personal commitment to reduce household garbage to two bags per week, establish home compost piles, use returnable containers and resist the use of over packaged goods, he told the councillors.

He went to the meeting equipped with a case of pop for each councillor, bottled in returnable bottles, as well as a number of composting bins.

The pop was free but councillors wishing one had to pay for compost bins.
