

Oakville municipal building.

The original Halton Region headquarters and the old Halton County headquarters. A few months after the region was born this building in Milton was sold to Queen's Park and became a court house.

Burlington municipal building.

The present Halton Region headquarters in Burlington.

The future Halton Region headquarters slated to be built near Bronte Creek provincial park.

The original Halton Region headquarters and the old Halton County headquarters. A few months after the region was born this building in Milton was sold to Queen's Park and became a court house.

The main centre of municipal activity in Halton Hills is the former Esquesing township building. Halton Hills' municipal offices are scattered throughout the town but all operations are expected to be at this Seventh Line site when these quarters are expanded in the future.

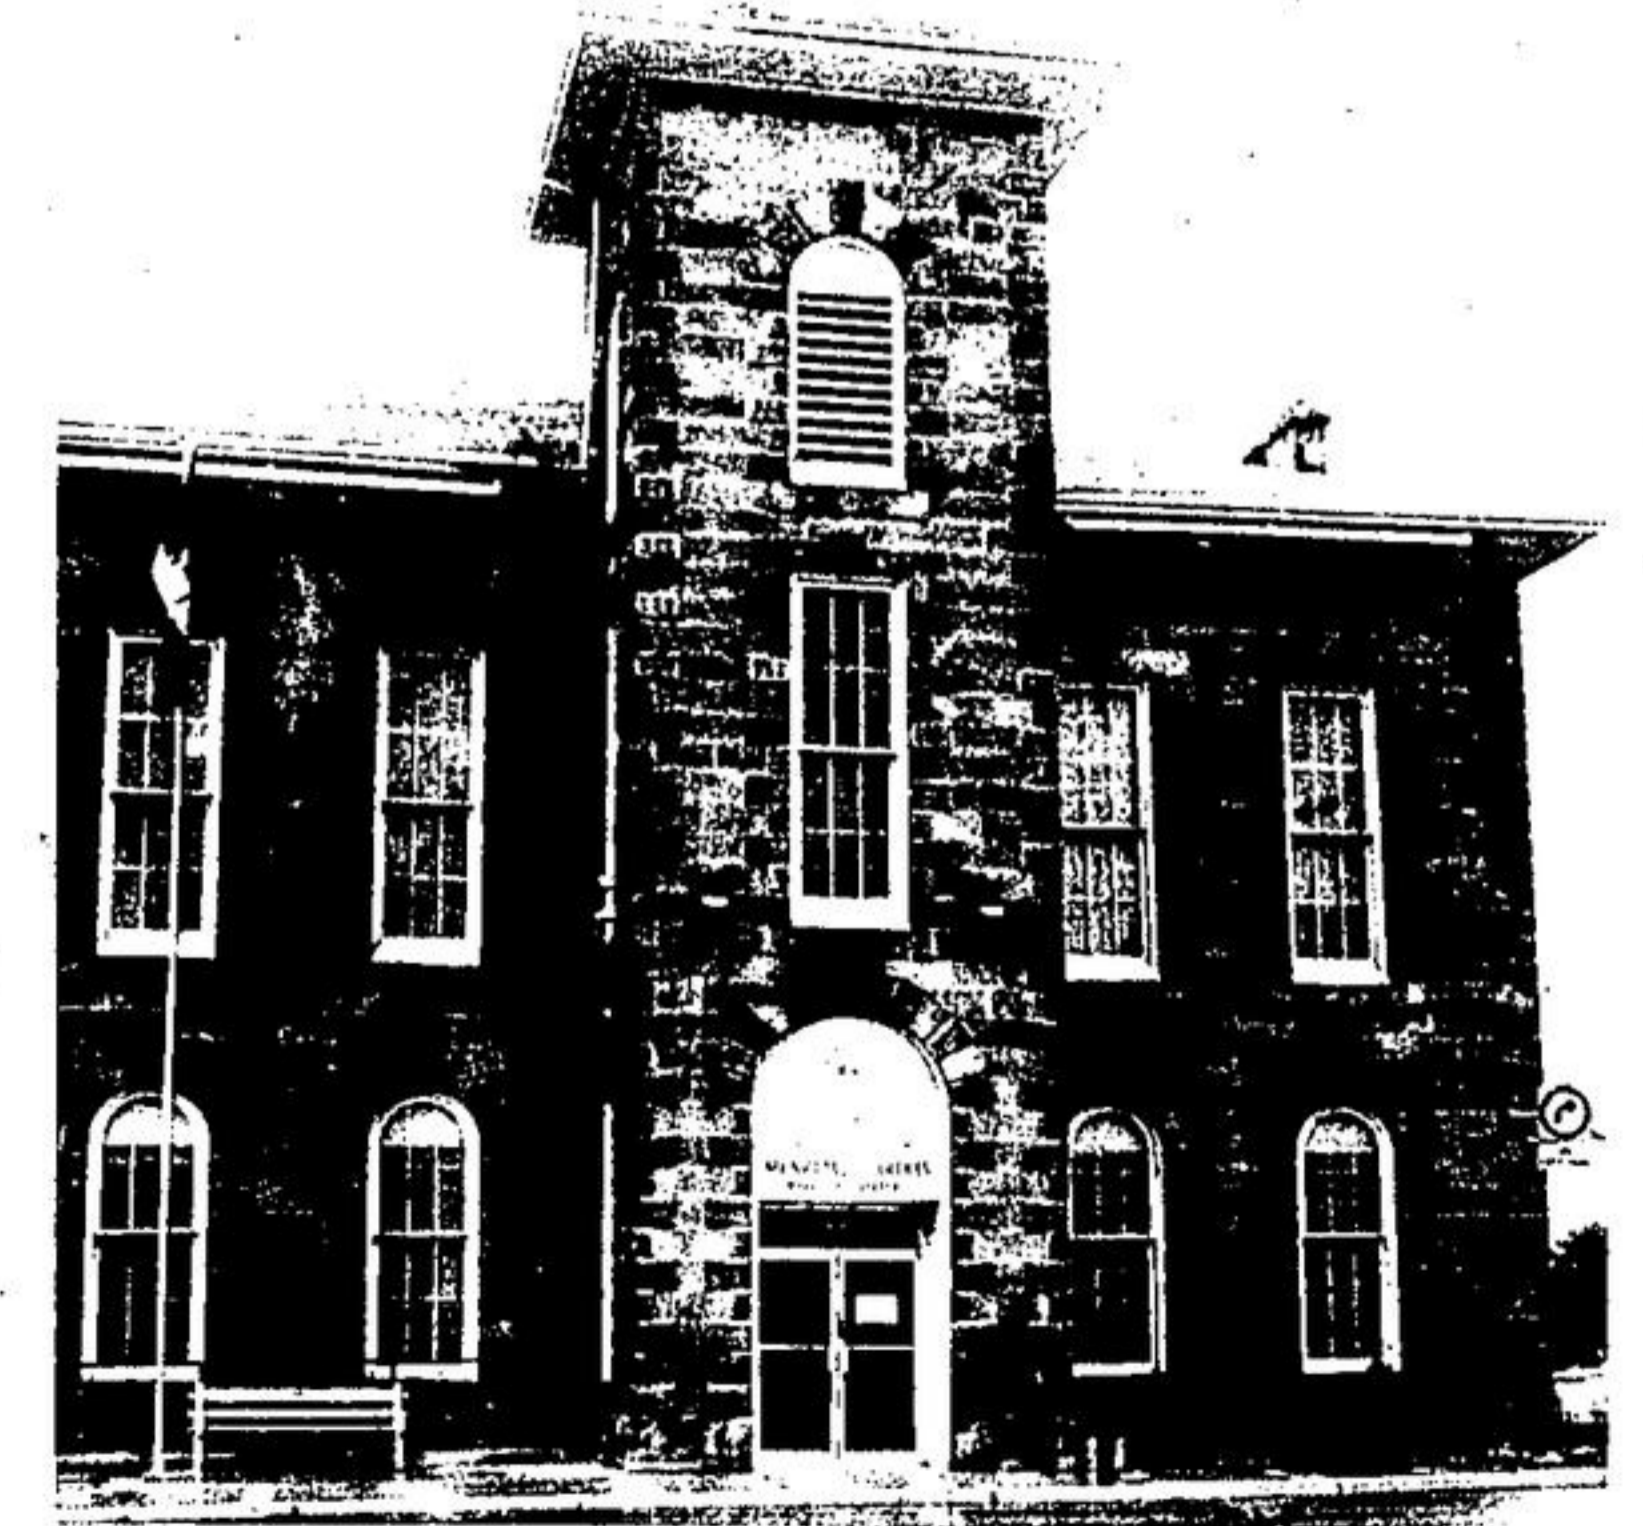

The present Halton Region headquarters in Burlington.

The future Halton Region headquarters slated to be built near Bronte Creek provincial park.

Halton's Headquarters

Milton municipal building.