

Hope to crack down on illegally parked cars

Cars parking along Fall St. in Rockwood leading in the Conservation Park run the risk of being towed away, possibly as far away as Guelph.

The Eramosa Township Council for some time now has been concerned over the cars parking along the street, making the road very narrow and sometimes blocking driveways in the area. They concluded that it was mainly out-of-town cars parking there, and passed a municipal by-law restricting parking on the street. Signs have been erected but ignored by park visitors.

The Guelph detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police was made aware of the problem and council requested them to do something about the illegally parked cars.

Need officer
At Monday's meeting of the council Corporal John Havorn told the members that as long as there was a no parking by-law for the street, the OPP could not touch the cars. He explained that this fell under sub-section ten of the Highway Traffic Act. Corp. Havorn pointed out that a by-law enforcement officer was the only one who could ticket the cars. The village at this time does not have such an officer, but the council is looking.

The OPP officer explained that if there was no by-law, they could ticket or tow away any vehicles with one or more wheels on the travelled portion of the road.

Deputy-Reeve Betty Lou Clark suggested digging deeper ditches forcing drivers to park on the street and repeal the by-law.

It was the general feeling of council that the Rockwood Conservation Park should help alleviate this problem as the cars are parked there because of the park.

Mrs. Clark exclaimed that when the township gives the park $14,000, the village should not be inconvenienced the way it has been in the past.

Signs
Corp. Havorn suggested erecting bigger signs, which the Deputy Reeve was opposed to. "People do not pay attention to signs", she said.

Councillor David Masson suggested a big sign telling people that if their cars are parked in certain areas, they could be towed away. The signs could go at the beginning of the street and again at the park entrance.

Reeve Bill Adsett said good public relations is needed between the council and the park people. He thought if the people on the park gates warned motorists of the risk they were running by illegally parking, and erected signs, the problem could drop off.

Mr. Masson thought if the police had a blitz of towing away cars for a few Sundays, the offenders would get the message and not park there any longer.

The OPP and the eramosa road superintendent Bob Hamilton plan to go to the Conservation park and speak with the officials there about the problem, and ask them about warning people at the gate.

United Church women read scripture sessions

Members of Unit One of Rockwood United Church Women met at the home of Mrs. Frank Oslander for their April meeting. Mrs. Jessie Dunk chose St. Francis of Assisi's prayer to open the day's program.

The president, Mrs. Florence Trousdale chose for her devotional theme, "The last week on earth of Jesus Christ, our Saviour." She suggested each member should re-read the book of Matthew from the 11th chapter to the end of his book, a portion at a time, to refresh her memory and to gain new insights into God's will for each one.

Several members assisted her by reading sections of Scripture, and in the discussion, Mrs. Sytke Drijber read of the simple childlike faith Christ expected of His followers, followed by Mrs. Dunk who read of Zebedee's mother's wish for her sons.

Mrs. Agnes Ostrander read of Jesus sorrow over Jerusalem, and of the triumphal entry into the city. Mrs. Trousdale pointed out that the Jews did not understand that Jesus' kingdom would not be on this earth; they were disappointed in Him but at the day of the triumphal procession they thought He would lead them to victory against the Romans.

Mrs. Verna Root concluded the study with His final days of work on earth, when He taught and corrected the people, frequently using parables. Mrs. Trousdale noted that in the parable of the vineyard, He was showing how He would be rejected by men.

Mrs. Alvena McDougall chose the work of a Zambian woman, Mrs. Harriet Mubanga as the topic from the study book for this year. Using portions of an interview with Mrs. Mubanga she answered questions which various members asked regarding the work of the Mindolo church centre. She told of the teaching of housekeeping, sewing and cooking, which accompanies the Bible study there. She also teaches in villages if invited by the local council. A mobile form of instruction is possible through well-equipped vans. Special services of graduation add status to the six month course.

Questioned on the most noticeable differences between Western lectures and her own, she said that the women were sometimes so exuberant that they would burst out in song, or interrupt with an impassioned insight, in the midst of a lecture.

She spoke also of the problems of the uneducated wife who could not cope with her husband's newly acquired taste for Western ways. Her work in this area was much appreciated by the men. The difference in cultures caused a wide gap which the Mindolo centre hoped to bridge.

Guelph widow is winner

A Guelph great-grandmother is $100,000 richer this week after holding the winning Ontario lottery ticket last Thursday evening.

Mrs. Margaret Southon had ticket number 89092 in series 41. She has no plans for the money, but has toyed with the idea of buying back the service station and general store in Hillsburgh she and her late husband used to own until his death in 1962. She thought she might also do some travelling.

Mrs. Southon has three children, 10 grandchildren and five great grandchildren. Her son-in-law is the brother of Leo Close of Milton, formerly of Acton.

Mary and John Blonski of Etobicoke are the other $100,000 winners with ticket number 59985 in series 34. They are expecting their first child in June.

Need new hose advance granted

An advance on the Rockwood-Eramosa fire hall budget has been granted by Eramosa township council in order that the department may purchase much-needed hose immediately.

Fire chief Carl Meadows and deputy chief Frank Allsop attended council's meeting Monday evening and told the members of their depleted supply of hose. Mr. Meadows pointed out that the firefighters must put wet hoses back on the firetrucks because they do not have enough to replace the used hose while it is drying. The chief explained this causes rotting.

Mr. Meadows said that weak parts of the existing hoses are bursting, with the most recent incident being a few weeks ago while on a practice. He told council that it can be extremely dangerous if a firefighter is battling a fire and the hose wears through.

Bought in 1949
The department is still using parts of a hose purchased in 1949, but it will not last much longer. He requested enough money to purchase 1,000 feet of one and a half in-chosing and 1,000 feet of two and a half inch hosing. Mr. Meadows explained new hose is required every few years.

Council discussed the matter and decided to grant the fire department the advance. Mr. Meadows had stressed the fact that if 1,000 feet of hose is purchased at one time, the manufacturing company grants a five per cent discount on the purchase. He explained that it would be cheaper to buy all the hosing at once.

Bars over windows to prevent break-ins

Steel bars were put over the basement windows of the Rockwood-Eramosa Medical Centre after someone entered the building by breaking a basement window.

Eramosa township councillor Allan Burnett told fellow councillors of the break and entry, but said nothing had been stolen. He pointed out that the bars also prevent a baseball from the nearby school crashing through the window. Mr. Burnett reassured council that a small stone was the only thing that could break the window, but that posed no problem.

Await Wintario grant for Mill reconstruction

Reconstruction of the Everton Mill is coming along swiftly, reported Councillor John Hewitt to the Eramosa township council Monday evening.

Mr. Hewitt said the siding was completed on the front, the bulkhead had been rebuilt and many other necessary jobs are either completed or nearing completion.

He told the council that he had heard nothing in writing from Wintario, even though he had been informed his Everton Mill committee group was going to receive the grant.

Members of the committee have been phoning the Wintario offices regularly, and even though they have received nothing in writing, they are confident a grant is forthcoming.

In camera meeting

The Eramosa township council will be meeting with their auditor on April 26 to discuss this year's budget. This meeting is not open to the public or the press.
