

Aberfoyle Antiqua

A little girl is told how things were in "the good old days".

It's the fashionable thing to do these days to put on a blue denim suit and join the thousands of visitors to the Aberfoyle Antique Market. Each Sunday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. the small village of Aberfoyle on Highway Six is lined with cars as visitors poke their way through the piles of antiques — looking for treasures.

A popular feature of the market is the community of artisans. Over 25 craftspeople demonstrate and sell their original work from pottery, jewellery, pine furniture, candles and toys to batik, macrame, plants, weaving, quilts and metal-work.

The Aberfoyle General Store features local produce, natural foods, crafts and unusual, hard-to-find items.

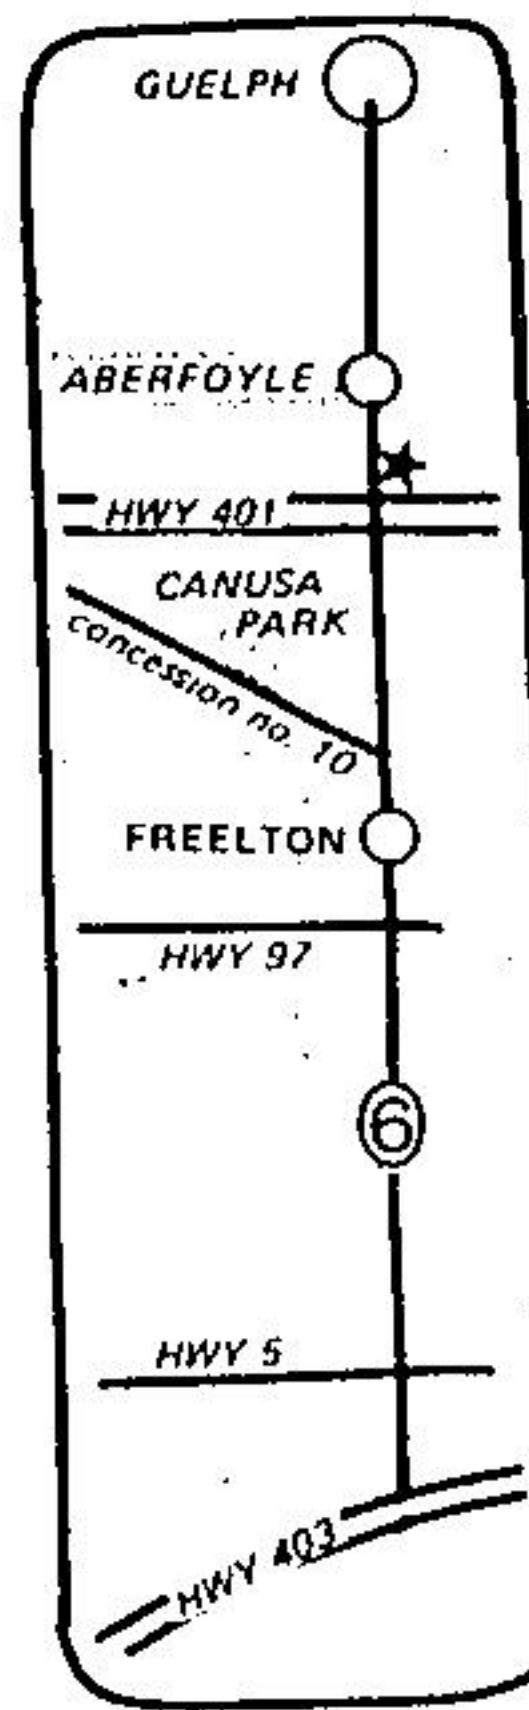

The Slaughterhouse serves home cooked meals to be eaten either inside or out. It's also open as a coffee house Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights featuring Canadian talent.

For the young visitor, Aberfoyle is a living history lesson. For the older folk it's a trip down memory lane.

Strolling through the hundreds of boot fun way to spend a Sunday.

by Joyce Beaton

Stained glass is one of the crafts on display at the Artisans' Village. Bonnie and Rick Soucie are two of the 25 craftspeople.

This young couple found the old wicker baby carriage an interesting plaything.