

Image Fashions—a mecca for women.

Image serves all ages

For a lesson in fashion and merchant philosophy, Mr. Cachia is the man to see. Five years ago he and his wife opened Image Fashions and today have a store in downtown Georgetown, Pickering, Brampton and Toronto, in addition to the one in the Market Centre.

Each store is managed by people originally from Georgetown.

Image Fashions is not a specialty store with clothing by big name designers, yet the quality of merchandise is impeccable and unconditionally guaranteed. The store serves all ages of women, from the very young to the more mature.

The size of the store has not prevented the Cachias from offering an amazingly large selection. Every corner is filled with styles, colours and sizes of all kind.

Image Fashions is dedicated to serving the needs of Georgetown women.

G & S TV keeps 8 busy

In 1958 two self-employed technicians Gerry Lang and Steve Pallichuk joined to form a business. G & S TV has been in Georgetown since then, and Gerry and Steve have been servicing and selling TV, stereo equipment, citizens' band and car radios.

In addition to their full service shop, they have probably the largest selection of records and tapes in Georgetown.

The six full and two part time employees are kept especially busy on weekends and in the fall and winter. With their large selection of rock music, they offer classical and such "middle of the road" material as James Last and Lawrence Welk, to serve the many people who have interests other than in popular rock.

Golden Fish and Chips.

Better recipe incentive

Golden Fish and Chips has been in Georgetown nine years. Customers have been served at the Market Centre since 1971 with five employees working part time.

Busiest day seems to be Friday, but business is steady throughout the year, with no seasonal variations.

The owner went into business because of a friend who had a good recipe for batter. It was an opportunity to work independently. As it was both profitable and enjoyable, he remained.

Golden Fish and Chips use only halibut and fresh potatoes. Variety is just as important, and therefore onion rings, shrimp, hamburgers, grilled cheese, and fishburgers are available. While most people take advantage of the take-out service, there are facilities for dining in.
