Light horses good watching

Carriage and roadster horses were well represented at Saturday's show on the track. The bike racing classes and polished turnouts delighted the crowd.

Entries seemed up to par with many contestants travelling some distance. Quality was excellent and gave the judge a hard time choosing the red ribbon winner each time.

Prize money in these classes is good and attracts some excellent entries. It's often the only chance many spectators get to see a well appointed pair in harness pulling a polished carriage.

Western horse classes

Both halter classes and performance events were featured in Sunday's Western Horse Show, at the fair, attracting a record number of participants. Games such as keyhole race, barrel race, pickup and flag races were interspersed with a good trail class western riding and pleasure classes.

Many contestants were well experienced, having been showing for years. Some had entered last year's Western show. However, organizers were delighted to see some riders entering the events for the first time and being encouraged by the grandstand.

Western horse classes had many entries and keen competition.

Sunday horse show

Once again, classes in the Sunday English horse show were rewardingly full. As many as 25 to 30 horses were entered in some classes. New jumps and professional courses combined to give the English ring a look of the large recognized show. The Calibre of horses was said to be excellent, many entries travelling long distances.

A wide variety of jumping classes and two flat classes provided spectators with a good look at the hunter in action. The stands were full during most of the afternoon.
