Legion town league tallies

Players trying out for all star teams are to remain with that team until the coach sends them back to the house leagues. All players in house league are to bring their old sweaters Saturday. New sweaters will be issued when the all star teams are picked. Any boy whose name does not appear below in the list of team members, is advised to come to the arena before his league starts playing. The midget league could do with some coaching assistance. Contact John Toebes at 853-2646.

Marzo drops Leaf offer returns to family firm

Pete Marzo made up his mind some time ago to play hockey for the Toronto Maple Leafs. No other pro team would do. So when the Leaf brass attempted this season to start Pete in a farm club, he said no thanks and left hockey to make his living some other way. Pete, who's working in his parents' glove factory on Crescent St. said that the selection of players for the Leafs and their camps appeared to him to have been made before the tryouts had a chance to show their stuff. "Before we got our skates on, it was decided," he said. "It was so cut and dry," was the way he described the selection. About 60 players were in the Toronto camp. Gregory Pete said that before he left here for Toronto, he was told by Leaf General Manager Jim Gregory that everyone would be in the NHL club's camp. "So I figured: Great

Gems take

Georgetown Gemini's chucked up two more victories last week to move into second place in the Central OHA Junior "B" standings. A last minute goal by Burlington's Rick Lanz prevented the Gems from making it a perfect three for three week. The Cougars won that game 3-2 last Wednesday night on goals by Lanz, Mark Lipnick and Brian Smith. Dave Robertson and Mike Richmond replied for Georgetown. Friday night, Gems scored six times in the third period to whip the Acton Sabres 7-2. Friday night, in perhaps their best showing of the season, they blanked Burlington 5-0. Mike Richmond potted a pair of goals, Mike Osborne, Charlie Knoepfl, Paul Martin, Terry Turner and Ian Syme one each for the Gems in their win over Acton. Dave Chapman and Rob Milligan were the Sabre shooters.

Youth bowling

Gregory Pete said that before he left here for Toronto, he was told by Leaf General Manager Jim Gregory that everyone would be in the NHL club's camp. "So I figured: Great I'd have a chance at the Leafs", Pete said. But Pete contends that as soon as the hopefuls arrived at North York Arena, the college players were separated. Pete graduated from Boston University last spring with a Bachelor of Science in Physical Education. The Leafs, Pete said, wanted to send him to play for their farm club at Saginaw, Michigan. "The money is not that good. I have a wife and baby. It's not just what I wanted", Pete said. As for the experience, Pete said that he was glad that he went. "I just wish everyone went there on the same basis". Pete said that he's going into the glove manufacturing business with his father and uncle. "I'd like to settle down and form roots". Pete said that he expects to buy a home in the area and move back from Guelph with Denise, his wife, and their child Kirsten. Pete is playing hockey for fun. He's in the lineup of Cambridge Hornets in the OHA Senior A. He played three years with Boston University Terriers. Here he played Junior A and B at Guelph and with Kitchener Rangers. He also played minor hockey in Acton. He expressed the desire to coach some hockey in a year or so, to share the knowledge that he's earned of the college system.

Kelso meet

Georgetown's Centennial and Stewarttown schools dominated the North Halton senior public schools cross country championship at the Kelso Conservation area on Wednesday morning. Centennial finished on top in the Junior and Senior divisions while Stewarttown placed second in both divisions. In the Intermediate division Stewarttown finished on top with Centennial winding up a close second. Georgetown's Harrison school captured the Bantam division ahead of J.M. Denyes of Milton and Acton's M.Z. Bennett.
