

by Wendy Thomson One of the nice things about writing this column is having a printed record of happenings and changes over the past eight

Every October I flip thru' the pages of my Painted Box scrapbooks and all the little beings that "peopled" my life are right there in front of me, and all the goings-on are re-

Eight years doesn't seem that long, but the changes there've been are manyespecially over this past year! What surprises me is that so many changes were due to doors opened up by these writings.

In '68, we had been living south of Acton for eight years. Beth and Jim, 10 and 8, were going to Speyside school. David was about to start kindergarten and leave off taking things at home apart. Husband Gord was tied to a factory job in Oakville, and I lended the house. Of course, that was just the basic family. Rounding out the edges were the cats. Cockeyed Cat, her daughter Littlecat, HER daughter Miss Tansy Cat, and our big Thomas-cat. And, of course, there was the hound, Rip Van Wrinkle.

The pasture held my mare Black Velvet, the kids' pony Earl Grey, Papa-goose and his family, and Banty-rooster (who thought he was either a goose or a dog.)

Joining them over that year was Pepe the gosling, Daisypony. Andy-the-ferret, and countless other things, mainly cats.

The writing of our experiences made them much more enjoyable because I was reliving all the good things over as I wrote, and I'm still reliving them with each re-reading. Last October arrived at the farm in Buck Creek. Alberta,-Gord, Jim, David, and I, Rip's daughter Sue, her mate Ky, and their daughter McPhee, Miss Tansy Cat, and Minnie-the-ferret.

Within a week, we'd bought 160 acres and 28 head of cattle; otherwise, the future was pretty uncertain. What are we doing now? I guess the only things unchanged are the 160 acres, and David (now 12) who is going 15 miles to school in Drayton Valley and taking things apart at home.

The cow herd swelled to around 40 and then was sold. The house has grown a fair bit after we took down one of the log buildings on the quarter and rebuilt it onto the front as a living room.

Miss Tansy Cat, after months of fruitless searching, finally found a tom this summer and happily produced six smoke-grey kittens who live under a granary and storm the house periodically.

Our first sad notes were the selling of Ky and McPhee. Then, last month, after a very happy, playful summer, Minnie-the-ferret went into decline and died of leukemia. Two weeks later, another member of the family was gone. Old hound Sue was dead in her box when I went to rouse her one morning. So this has been a difficult fall for me; I loved those animals dearly and losing two at once was quite a jolt. However, Sue's son of last December, Rip the second, is doing his best to fill in the

Also, there is much around to become involved in. I'm writing for here too, two columns called "Out Our Way" and "The Recipe Corner", as well as doing quite a bit of free-lance photography. And then, there's two days work in the darkroom of the Drayton Valley Western Review every week. I shouldn't forget to mention my first photo award (3rd place, Alberta-wide) either.

When I'm done all that (and the housework) I've been trying to get down to some serious writing. Needless to say, not much of the last has been done and I'm at present trying to figure just what I can Gord is having a whale of a time in Alberta! Two nights a week he teaches judo at Winfield School, had three provincial winners in his group, and is paid with buckets of fresh milk which is great!

He worked at the lumber yard in town this spring, went to the mountains for the summer, and is back at the . lumber yard now. However, deer season just opened here, and moose season across the river, so the lumber yard manager rounded up parttime help while he and Gord and two other friends loaded up some horses and took off for the wilds.

It's costing me more to feed these guys than we'd eve save by having game in the freezer, but I guess that's beside the point.

Jim, the 17 year old, had to stay behind from the hunting trips this year. When he started fall semester at high school, he had a two hour Work Experience period each day at a farm machinery shop. After two weeks they asked if he'd consider apprenticing there for his mechanics licence which is what he's been after all along"! So he's working there full time now with no time for such foolishness as hunting.

That's all quite a change from eight years ago-even from ONE year ago!

And the changes are still coming thick and fast. Some days are really enough to boggle the mind.

Remembrance theme Auxiliary meeting

The November meeting of the afternoon auxillary of Knox Church Women's Missionary Society centred on the theme of Remembrance. Following poems Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, and An Unnamed Man, Miss Anderson led in prayer at the conclusion of which a moment of silence was observed. Mrs. Near was in charge of the program and was assisted by Mrs. Mac-Pherson, Miss Clark, Mrs.

McIntyre and Mrs. Dennis. A story of the poppy was read and also one of the establishment of Remembrance Day. The history of two churches was also given. One was the former Sheridan Methodist Church in Oakville, established 156 years ago, which will become the Women's Institute Hall at the Ontario Agricultural Museum a time of fellowship was at Milton. The second church, enjoyed.

which has already been 70 years in the process of building and will not be completed until 1980, is the National Cathedral of St. Peter and St. Paul at Washington, D.C. It is the sixth largest church building in the world. Canada has donated to its construction. It will be administered by the Episcopal Anglican Church.

Mrs. Near also told about commemorative communion tokens which were struck during 1975, the centennial year of the Presbyterian Church in Canada. The communion token, a token of love, was used first in Scotland to exclude spies from the communion celebration. A poem entitled, Memories of an old lady, written by a lady in Dundee, Scotland, was read. Following the business period

Christmas plans are made by club

The regular afternoon meeting of the Acton Golden Age Club was well attended. President, R.L. Davidson welcomed the good turnout.

Mrs. Reed read the minutes of the previous meeting as prepared by Mrs. Robertson. A moment of silence was observed in memory of Mrs. Annie McCutcheon, a charter member and Mrs. Mamie Allen, a more recent joiner.

Cards of appreciation from these members' families for expressions of sympathy at their time of bereavement, were read. Mr. Davidson reminded those members who were members of the Sunshine Club of the bus trip to the fall fair. He also announced the Annual Christmas dinner given by the Rotary Club and Canadian Legion, was to be Nov. 30 at 6 p.m. Any members needing a ride were to phone Mrs. Robertson or Mrs. Mann. Mr. Davidson had been inquiring about bowling and had been told four lanes would be available Monday and Wednesday Mrs. Graham, Miss Hall and afternoons and maybe Fridays. More information will be given out later.

The Zone Rally was being held Nov. 8 at the new arena in Milton. Mr. Davidson urged all who could to go and boost the club and new president. Mrs. Mann gave a detailed financial report.

The Membership fee this year will be $2 along with the Star Club fee. The president asked the members to pay their fees promptly. He had a suggestion box for any suggestions for improving the
