Lou Smith, Blake Norton, Adrian Alder and Tammy Hunter. Master of ceremonies Barry Manes is seated in the background. Missing from the picture are Jim Hunter and Heath Norton.

CHRISTMAS IS a time for fun, and Dublin Institute members made their own fun in the old fashioned way. Here Mrs. Emma McIntyre and Mrs. June Hunter present a skit on the Institute.

Gifts and gaiety

Family night Dublin W.I.

Saturday night, December 18 was chosen as Family Night when Dublin Women's Institute members, husbands and children gathered at Luxton Hall for their Christmas party. Nearly 70 adults and children attended. A hot turkey supper was served and all enjoyed a good variety of choice foods.

EVELYN NEAR gives a recitation for families and friends at the Dublin party in the parish hall.

Following the supper, a program was enjoyed with the children and a few adults participating. Master Barry Manes was master of ceremonies, and his mother, Mrs. Donna Manes accompanied the musical numbers. The program consisted of the following numbers:

Four little charmers introduced themselves as Nancy Norton, Wendy Norton, Rochelle Appleyard and Angie Hunter sang I am a Little Piece of Tin. Leah Kranendonk, Kendra Smith and John McLean sang My Teddy Bear. Nine children sang Jingle Bells and 12 of the older children sang Twelve Days before Christmas. Six couples, Jimmy and Jennifer McLean, Adrian Alder and Sandi Hunter, Todd Smith and Sandi-Lou Smith, Ricky Dodds and Carrie Kirton, Blake Norton and Tammy Hunter, and Jimmy Hunter and Sherri Kirton danced a Mexican Hat Dance. Heath Norton played two piano solos, Silent Night and The More we Get Together. Jimmy Hunter did a short number representing Fonz of TV fame accompanying himself on the guitar. The children did very well, and everyone enjoyed their numbers.

Readings
A reading Mrs. McTrivers takes to the Air by Mrs. A. Near, and a skit The Women's Institute by Mrs. W. J. McIntyre and Mrs. D. Hunter were much enjoyed by everyone. A reading That is the Club that Dublin Built, composed by Mrs. D. Hunter, and read by Mrs. Duncan Moffat, a life member of Dublin W. I. Mrs. Moffat, her daughter, Mrs. John McLean and three grandchildren were present, representing three generations.

The closing number on the program was a song sung by 12 children Oh, Dear, what can the Matter Be?

Santa Claus arrived and the children's eyes were sparkling when each was presented with a gift. Even the men at the party were remembered with gifts. A few games of euchre were played and winners were Mr. and Mrs. H. Besley, Willard Britton, and Mr. and Mrs. John McLean.

Much credit is due the busy committee in charge, namely Mrs. D. Appleyard, Mrs. E. Norton, Mrs. D. Hunter, Mrs. F. Kirton and Mrs. H. Dodds in providing such an enjoyable evening both for the children and the adults.

TAKING HIS turn with Santa is three-year-old John McLean, at the Dublin Family Night in the parish hall Saturday.
