

Sheridan opens in Brampton

Contractors are putting the finishing touches to the new Sheridan College Brampton Campus, which will open for classes Jan. 3, 1977, at the southeast corner of Steeles Ave. West and McLaughlin Rd. in Brampton.

The top three floors of the multi-level complex, including the campus' technical wing, are already complete. Workers are now hurrying to finish the ground floor in time for the big move Wednesday (Dec. 8).

On that day, moving vans will transfer the library and visual arts department from the existing Church St. Campus to the new campus.

Everything else—technology, applied arts and business and secretarial studies—will be transported to the new facilities during the following week.

The week of Dec. 20-24 will be spent setting up classrooms and studies in preparation for the beginning of classes Jan. 3.

Finished or not Sheridan College vice-president Barrie Wray said the move will go ahead as planned, whether or not construction is complete.

"We are committed irrevocably to begin moving Dec. 8 and to have classes start Jan. 3," he said. "We'll be there even if we have to dodge painters and carpenters."

The move will climax three years of design and construction since the $7.5 million first phase was approved by the Ministry of Colleges and Universities.

During that time, the Sheridan College Board of Governors has worked closely with Toronto architects Brook Carruthers Shaw and Toronto-based Bradsl Ltd., the general contractor, to come up with a campus consistent with the college's educational philosophy.

Four structures located about one mile south of the existing one, is a cluster of four separate structures linked by an arterial course which forms the core or spine of the college.

The interior contains some courts, mezzanines, open teaching areas, technology labs, visual arts studios and general classrooms.

Student services such as cafeteria, health centre, bookstore and student-run dining room are also included along with staff and student lounges, administration centre, management development area, language development centre and test areas.

An important feature of the new campus will be the multi-purpose sports complex housing a gymnasium, squash courts and a student lounge.

The concrete floor is now being poured in this area and heating and electrical work installed for completion by the end of January.

Currently full-time post-secondary enrolment is about 850 with more than 1,000 students expected in 1977-78.

C.G.I.T. vesper service held

The national Christmas vesper service was held by the girls of the C.G.I.T. in Trinity United church Sunday evening, Dec. 12. All the girls took part, and conducted the entire service themselves. In a lively and interesting way, they followed the prescribed service used by similar groups all over the country. The congregation joined in at various designated times. Special music was included. Members of the group are Debbie Murchison, Lisa Thomas, Kathryn Beaton, Rhona Silcock, Kathleen Nolan, Judy Pink, Juanita Andrews, Marie LaMarsh, Asta Kaspe, Susan and Wendy Dedman, Judy Shadbolt, Heather Reed, Nancy Patterson, Nancy Frank and Lynda Shadbolt.

Board hires negotiator for teacher contract

Halton Board of Education announced the hiring of a new administrative assistant to help Superintendent of Instruction John Boich with teacher negotiations.

officer for the Ontario Manpower Co-ordinating Committee. When she joins the board at the start of next year she will start training under Boich and learning about Bill 100, which governs teacher contract negotiations in which she will soon be embroiled.

Board doesn't have deficit

Peggy Dutton, who is with the Ontario Ministry of Labor Research Branch, has had "extensive research experience in labor and manpower areas."

Halton Board of Education expects its books will balance for 1976.

A few weeks ago Lindley predicted the board would go over its budget by about $100,000 to $150,000.

Superintendent of Business and Finance Bruce Lindley announced Thursday the amount the board spent this year and the amount budgeted would be just about the same. This year's budget was over $73 million.

However, insurance rates have been sliced in half recently for the board, representing a savings of between $100,000 and $125,000.

Contest winners chosen by Santa

Three lucky girls will be receiving $5 each for winning first prize in their age group in the Free Press Santa Coloring Contest.

Seven-year-old Janet Steckley, 18 Division St., is the winner in the seven to eight year age group. Santa liked her work very much.

Santa went through the pile of more than 80 entries received and found it difficult to choose just three. However, he did manage to come up with requested winners.

Judy Arbic, 10 years old, was Santa's decision for the winner in the nine to ten year group.

The Free Press would like to thank Santa for taking the time from his busy schedule to help us. It was greatly appreciated.

The winners are asked to come into the Free Press offices between Christmas and New Year's to receive their $5 prizes. They can, at this time, receive their coloring back also. Unfortunately, this newspaper cannot return all entries. If the winners cannot make it into the office before December 30, they are asked to notify the news room at the Free Press and staff will hold the prize over.

Susan Lindsay, of 78 Nelson Court, will receive a birthday/Christmas present for her fine work in the five to six year old category. Susan turned seven on December 18, but was six when the picture was colored.
