

Disqualified

An Acton motorcyclist was charged this past week with driving while disqualified. A Georgetown driver was also charged with driving while disqualified, when he was stopped by police in Acton.

A car which was reported on fire on the third line last week was discovered to be stolen from Mississauga. Acton firefighters were called to the scene and were surprised to discover the motor and license plate missing from the burning car.

St. Patrick's theme for Sunshine meeting

Mrs. Vera Black, the president of the Sunshine Club, welcomed 42 members on a lovely sunny afternoon March 10. She took her place at the piano and after the singing of O' Canada everyone joined with Irish songs as the theme for the day was St. Patrick. It was also a very special day for Mr. and Mrs. Max Milne as it was on this day 57 years ago that they were married. The Sunshine Club presented them with a pot of golden daisy mums and everyone joined the song Let Me Call You Sweetheart. Mrs. Milne thanked everyone and gave a very good account of the weather and what happened that day 57 years ago. Birthday greetings were extended to Mrs. Irene Davidson, Mrs. Marg Copperaud, Mrs. Jessie Dunk and Jack Milne.

Business discussion with Mrs. Jessie Dunk reading out the financial statement came next. The program convenor Mrs. Mary Milne called on Miss Gladys Hanna, who sang two songs in her lovely soprano voice, A Basket of Old-fashioned Roses and Silver Threads among the Gold. These songs she dedicated to Mr. and Mrs. Max Milne. The Sunshine Boys were called on to take part and while they were getting their instruments ready Mrs. Milne read a piece entitled "Man and his Auto" which was very humorous and applied to all backseat drivers. Irish songs Henry Leachman, Victor Smith and Bert Davidson with Mrs. Black at the piano entertained with jigs. Irish songs which soon had everyone toe-tapping and hand clapping. Tipperary Daisy was sung by Mrs. Margaret McNabb and then Mrs. O'Rourke gave us a special treat by singing a lovely Irish song in Gaelic. Everyone enjoyed the program very much and wish to express their sincere thanks to those who took part, it was such a happy time. Euchre and erokinole came next with high scores for euchre going to Mrs. Tina Johnston and Henry Leachman and the erokinole scores to Miss Gladys Hanna and Mrs. Vera Black. A delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Florence Trousdale and Mrs. Ann Kingshott and Mrs. Ann Smith, consisting of tea-biscuits and jam and cake and ice-cream. The cake was decorated in true Irish style and was made and donated by Mrs. Ann Smith. So once again a very pleasant afternoon among friends came to an end, so don't forget the next meeting will be held in the Rockwood Town-hall at 2 p.m. on March 24. Get well messages are sent to Mrs. Anna Wilson and Cliff McDougall; all hope they will soon be well.

PAMELA OLINOSKI of Rockwood, daughter of the chairman of Quarterama, was delighted to have won a tenth place in western pleasure for 13 and under. Her mount, Watt Berry, also won 8th in the versatility class and 9th in four wheel driving. Classes of over a hundred were commonplace at Canada's largest Quarter horse show in the Coliseum last week.

Brownie news

by Ann Chesworth
Mrs. Eva McLaren introduced the Guides to ceramics this week and many attractive beads, pendants and pinch pots were made. After the firing the girls will apply a glaze. Last weekend our captain, Ann Chesworth, took 15 guides winter camping. For these first chilling experiences we stayed close to the old school house at Corwin, and the brave girls who opt to sleep outside can always warm up inside on a visit to the washroom! We went on a hike in the wild evening wind and pretended that we were lost to test our survival kits—after using all the matches in what we thought was a sheltered area we decided that we still have a lot to learn. All the cooking for the weekend camp was done inside by Guides who were working towards their Cook badge. The food was really good but the Captain kept laughing at the grimaces of the girls touching raw turkey for the first time, their dismay at having to strip lightly brown leaves off lettuce—"Do we have to wash the vegetables?" was one question. They are obviously used to having their meals served to them in a perfect state. For Thinking Day the Guides invited the Brownies to an International party to taste ethnic foods provided by the girls, play games from around the world, and then parade through the village with flags and noisemakers. One little Brownie remarked "Now I can say I have been in a real parade."

Easter Seals are out in mail soon

Local Rotarians were sticking and stuffing at their last meeting but they weren't enjoying a shishkabob banquet as you might have expected. They were enveloping Easter Seals to be mailed out in this year's campaign to raise money for the Ontario

Society for Crippled Children. This year 2,000 envelopes were mailed with a "householder" address to ensure that the appeal will reach Acton's rural routes as well as the downtown area. Last year, with a more limited mailing, the Rotarians collected just under $1,000 in donations and they hope the broader campaign will draw even more support.

The club members coordinating the campaign are Ron McKnight and Rick Devlin. If you didn't get your seals in the mail but would like to make a donation you can send it to Mr. McKnight care of the Bank of Nova Scotia in Acton. As in the past receipts are available for income tax purposes.

The campaign is only on until April 14 so act soon and remember - the Rotarians gave up a shishkabob banquet to help.

Birthday programs

Band fans will be interested to hear Jack Carpenter's Kitchener radio program the next two Sundays. He will be featuring half-hour interviews with famed British bandmaster Harry Mortimer and playing appropriate recordings. Jack interviewed Harry Mortimer at the Fanshawe College music workshops this winter. Paul Bray of Acton was a participant.

His regular program, Music Hall, runs from 5.05 to 8.30 p.m. Sundays on CFCA F.M., Kitchener, and Jack expects to have Harry Mortimer interviews on at about 6.45 p.m.

The entire interview will be repeated on Starlight Concert on the same station on Easter Sunday, April 10—Harry Mortimer's 75th birthday.

Wee bit o' the blarney f'r the birds an' trees

by Doris Fines
The top o' the mornin' to ye! Sure an' it's luffly weather we've been enjoyin' this fortnight, isn't it now? The grass is still green under the meltin' snow, an' a 'groundhog was sunnin' his self' out thurr in the field today.

Let us enjoy the good weather while it is here, for I have a feeling it may not last. The robins have returned. I saw the little critters hopping around the lawn on Sunday, and the red-winged black-birds singing in the trees. The starlings returned in droves a week ago. Even the sparrows, who apparently forsook us this winter for a warmer climate, there having been only three or four using the bird feeder, have increased in numbers.

I have received enquiries about a little tree at Ross Ferguson's which held on tightly to its leaves all winter.

The oak tree, for such it is, I am told keeps its leaves if it is going to be a cold winter. It could have been trying to tell us something. I realize I am rather late with this bit of weather lore, but you may wish to store it in the back of your mind for future reference.
