

Skating carnival packs arena Saturday

GETTING THE STAR treatment is talented young skater Cindy McGilloway. Girls lined up at the carnival to get her autograph. Here, Cindy signs Laura Jansen's program.

Movie nostalgia was the theme of this year's bright and breezy Figure Skating carnival. Packed houses applauded both performances Saturday, with many people standing throughout the show.

With the illness of one expected guest skater cancelling her appearance, all the performers were local people. Championship skater Kevin Parker delighted the crowds as he zipped around the ice in brilliant and beautifully accomplished routines. Members of Acton's club who have come up through years of instruction now also are well able to carry star spots.

David and Cindy McGilloway were popular performers in a couple of numbers. Other brother and sister teams are Charlie and Susan Kinal and Don and Cindy Brouillard.

Record number Close to 200 skaters took part in the show, directed by the three pros, Sally Leatherland, Sharon Dwyer and Pat Cranker. This is the largest registration ever.

Ed Leatherland gave the commentary; Pearl Sawden and Carol Campbell were in charge of the costumes.

Backdrops were painted by Eva Sansom. Many volunteers assisted with props and staffing the event.

Charles Perry was again the efficient backstage man. He has had this job since 1963 when his daughter skated; now his granddaughter's in the carnival. He directed four people on lights, one on overhead spots and the sound booth.

GARY McEACHERN and Elizabeth Hudson aptly played the parts of Prince Charming and Cinderella at the Acton figure skating ice carnival on Saturday.

GONE WITH THE Wind performers were Karen McEachern, Chris Baginski, Andree Charlebois, Debbie James, Kim Weir, Kelly Edge, Donna Briggs, Heather Michie, with Colleen DeBruyn kneeling.

THE FONZ, DON BROUILLARD PERCHES on his motorcycle as girls from Beach Movies number wait to move out on the ice.

PRETTY USHERETTES for the opening act of the ice skating carnival Saturday were Coleen Petty and Yvonne Blain.

EVEN THE THREE Stooges came out of retirement for the Acton figure skating carnival Saturday. Don Brouillard, Charlie Kinal and Dave McGilloway did a good job of copying the famous trio.

PRO SHARON Dwyer beams backstage as all goes well.
