This summer Ontario milk-drinkers will be on the lookout once again for the official Milk Spotters. Those who are caught drinking milk or milkshakes could win T-shirts, L.P.'s and five new white Minis.

Restaurants, fast-food outlets, parks and exhibitions are the places to be, as eleven students in their "Wear A Moustache" cars travel the province in search of milk-drinkers.

This 10-week promotion, running from June 27 through till September 5, is supported by the Ontario Milk Marketing Board and is intended to increase milk consumption outside the home. The success of last year's Milk Spotter campaign has prompted the Board to once again keep Ontarians aware of the good things that can happen to milk-drinkers.

160,000 certificates will be given away, offering 12,000 T-shirts, 3,000 L.P.'s and a chance to be the proud owner of one of five British Leyland Minis.

Chief Guide dies in home

by Mark Rowe

The world was saddened to learn of the death of Lady Olive Baden-Powell, first Baroness of Gilwell, first Baroness of Gilwell, on Sunday past. The Lady Baden-Powell was 85 years old. She died in a nursing home in England.

In 1912 she married Sir Robert Baden-Powell, later Baron of Gilwell. She quickly took to the Scouting and Guiding movement. In 1929 Lord Baden-Powell was proclaimed Chief Scout of the World. Lady Baden-Powell was later proclaimed Chief Guide of the World. The Lord Baden-Powell died in Kenya in 1941.

The Lady Baden-Powell continued on her husband's work and her own in the Girl Guides. Until recently she fulfilled hundreds of engagements around the world.

Her Majesty graciously granted her Ladyship an apartment of "Grace and Favour" in Hampton Court Palace near London.

the dampness. She has lived in a nursing home since.

She is survived by her daughters Betty and Heather and her grandson the third Lord Baden-Powell of Gilwell.

Her Ladyship will be buried beside her husband in Kenya, Africa.

Lady Olive Baden-Powell, aged 85 years will certainly be missed by all the Scouts and particularly the Guides of the world. As with the Chief Scout of the world, the title Chief Guide of the world will probably be buried with the Lady Baden-Powell.
