Erin twp. native

Mrs. Ella Gladys Macdonald (nee Smith) died on August 23 in hospital in Victoria B.C. The widow of the Rev. William Malcolm Macdonald, she was born in Erin township and was a resident of Victoria for 10 years. She was formerly a resident of Galt, Owen Sound and London, Ontario. Funeral service was held on August 26 in the family chapel of McCall Bros., Victoria, with the Rev. N. Archer officiating. Interment was in the Royal Oak burial park.

August 16 funeral

Lucy Irene MacDonald of 201 Grange St., Guelph, died August 14 in Guelph General Hospital at the age of 58.

Mrs. MacDonald was the wife of Ian Roy MacDonald and mother of William and mother-in-law of Ann MacDonald, Guelph. She was the grandmother of David and Krista MacDonald, and sister of Bob MacArthur, Acton and Dorothy (Mrs. Harry Norton), Acton.

She was loved by all who knew her.

Funeral service was held in Acton on August 16. Pallbearers were nephews Pat Garvey, Durham; Lenard Scates, Durham; Dennis MacDonald, Mount Forest; David Norton, Bramalea; Ron Hagan, Acton and friend Larry Ostrynik, Guelph. Flower bearers were Chris and Craig Scates and Bob Jones.

'Soft' services

A recently funded project will establish an information base about health and social services in the region, said Dorothy Craig, director of the project.

"It's really just to help us look at social goals in relation to what we've got, so they won't be out of context with reality," she said.

A $1,000 grant was awarded to the Human Services Council Regional Planning Subcommittee to carry out the project. The grant was announced by Dr. Frank A. Philbrook, MP for Halton.

"We need to know what health and social services are available and somebody needed to be hired to do that," Miss Craig said. "The members of the committee all have full time jobs."

Miss Craig, who is director of nursing at Halton Health Unit, said the person hired to produce the inventory will probably be a student. The inventory will include the numbers of staff and volunteers working in agencies in Halton.

The Human Services Council has in the past compiled a directory of services for the region, Miss Craig said. However, no further copies are available and no group has picked up the responsibility for printing and updating it.

In addition to producing an inventory the project will sponsor public workshops to inform the community on how to use the health and social services available in the region.

Belfountain wading pool to be fixed

The wading pool at Belfountain Conservation Area will be filled in and a better wading place created in the river, the Parks and Recreation Advisory Board of the Credit Valley Conservation Authority suggested at a recent meeting.

The existing pool, constructed prior to Authority takeover in 1961, has caused frequent problems, according to an Authority staff report. Major concerns include the difficulty in overcoming a silt and algae problem, creating a slippery pool bottom.

It was decided to clear a wading area in the river upstream from the bridge where water was not over the required maximum 18-inch depth. The area would be buoyed, sand added to make a beach, while the present pool would be concrete filled.
