

Winchester—Danilko Hawaiian honeymoon

A honeymoon in Hawaii followed the wedding of Jeannette Danilko and John Blake Winchester on May 6. The couple exchanged their vows in St. Casimir's Roman Catholic Church, Toronto, with Father Kosian officiating. The bride, upon leaving home for the church, was blessed by her parents, kissed the cross and was given a rosary by her parents.

Jeannette is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Danilko, 483 Westminster Ave., Toronto. She is a legal secretary. Blake is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Winchester, 120 Cobblehill Rd., Acton. He is a police officer with the Metropolitan Toronto Police Force.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a white satin gown with a train. An overlay of tulle with daisy-like appliques emphasized the gown. The high neckline tapered into a stand-up collar and a small crescent shaped headpiece held a two layered tulle veil. Jeannette carried the rosary her parents gave her as well as a small cascade of red sweetheart roses, orchids, white mums and baby's breath.

Maid of honor was the bride's sister, Irene Danilko. Bridesmaids were: sisters of the bride, Fava and Jean Danilko; cousin of the bride, Irene Ross; and sister of the groom, Beth Butler. Susan Okowita, cousin of the bride, and Kerry Butler, niece of the groom, were flowergirls. They wore white long-sleeved gowns with chiffon overlay and a burgundy flounced collar, sash and flounce at the bottom. They carried baskets of daisies and roses.

Bridesmaids and maid of honor were all gowned alike in burgundy dresses with burgundy chiffon capes. The maid of honor carried a cascade of pink and white daisies, mums, roses and baby's breath. The bridesmaids carried nosegays of red and pink roses, carnations, mums, baby's breath, daisies and burgundy streamers.

A friend of the groom, Bill Dynes was the best man. Ushers were: Ric Awde, cousin of the groom; Kaz Danilko, brother-in-law of the groom; and Ted Okowita, cousin of the bride. They wore white jackets and black pants, with black and white ruffled shirts.

An evening dinner reception was held in St. Casimir's Parish Hall. Before the wedding, Jeannette and Blake were guests of honor at a Jack and Jill shower hosted by Paul and Beth Butler of Acton. A large miscellaneous shower was given by the bride's relatives, and a personal shower was hosted by Irene Ross of Brampton. A rehearsal party was held at the Seaway Towers hosted by the groom's parents. The cake given to the guests was made by the groom's sister, Beth Butler.

Guests came from London, Ottawa and Oakville for the wedding. The newlyweds made their home at 68 Greene Cres., Brampton when they returned from their honeymoon.

JEANNETTE DANILKO and Blake Winchester were married May 6 in St. Casimir's Roman Catholic Church, Toronto. They are now living in Brampton.

BRENDA BOULD of R.R. 2, Guelph, and Jake Roelofsen of Collingwood were married in the chapel of St. George's Anglican Church on May 27.

Weddings and Engagements

Roelofsen—Bould vows Be a RED CROSS Blood Donor exchanged in Guelph

White daisies and pink carnations adorned the altar in the chapel in St. George's Anglican church, Guelph, May 27 for the wedding of Brenda Louise Bould and Jake James Carmen Roelofsen.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bould, R. R. 2, Guelph. She is an RNA in Guelph General Hospital. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arend Roelofsen, 598 Oak St., Collingwood. He is a cartographic technician, employed by Union Gas, Cambridge.

Archdeacon C. M. Mitchell officiated at the double ring ceremony. Escorted down the aisle by her father, Brenda wore a floor-length white gown made of German voile trimmed with delicate applique lace on the yoke, cuffs and bottom of the skirt. The groom's mother made the gown. To complement the dress, Brenda wore a picture hat trimmed with a sash of matching german voile, and carried pink sweetheart roses and baby's breath.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Debbie Marchmont, of Guelph was matron of honor. She wore a floor length two-piece mint green dress and carried pink sweetheart roses and white daisies with baby's breath. She wore daisies in her hair.

The bride's niece, Miss Amanda Marchmont, was flowergirl. She wore a floor length green and white cotton dress trimmed with eyelet and carried a basket of dried and silk flowers in pink and white.

Robert Mayer, a friend of the groom, from Clinton, Ontario was best man. Ushers were Rick Bould, brother of the bride, R. R. 2, Guelph, and Doif Roelofsen, brother of the groom, Collingwood.

At an evening reception at the Steel Workers Center, Guelph, the mother of the bride received her guests wearing a floor length pastel blue dress. A corsage of pink silk roses completed her ensemble. She also wore small pink silk blossoms in her hair. The mother of the groom received in a floor length coral dress with a waist length matching jacket. She wore a corsage of yellow silk roses.

All the wedding flowers were arranged by the bride's cousin, Mrs. Judy Campbell, Eden Mills. The wedding cake was made by the grandmother of the bride, and decorated by a friend of the family, Mrs. Helen Lamb, Guelph.

Special guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Ben Bould, Feeding Hills, Massachusetts, godparents of the bride. Other guests attended from Drayton, Collingwood, Lindsay, Kingston, Hamilton, Brantford, Alma, Guelph, Orangeville and Eden Mills. Prior to her wedding Brenda was guest of honor at several special showers. The first, a family shower, was hosted by her sister Debbie and grandmother, Mrs. Edith Boyd. A neighborhood shower was held by her cousin Judy Campbell, an aunt Mrs. Marion Bould and a friend Mrs. Wilma Fuller. The pediatric staff at the General Hospital gave a dinner and shower, and Mrs. Irene Brydges, a friend, hosted a miscellaneous shower. For travelling on their honeymoon, the bride wore a street length yellow dress with a brown silk flower corsage and matching brown shoes and purse. The couple are now living in Guelph.

Don't believe what they tell you about immigration.

A lot of people have some pretty strange ideas about Canada's immigration law. And, as a result, a lot of people suffer from believing them. The fact is, the most reliable information comes from us. In other countries, we're in Canadian Government visa offices. Here at home, it's your Canada Immigration Centre. If you know someone who'll have to pass through Canadian Immigration in the near future, you'd be doing them a favour by pointing them in our direction. Especially now that there's a new immigration law.

Now, the new law doesn't mean a lot of changes for the average immigrant or visitor. Here, nevertheless, are a few things that might affect you or someone you know. From now on, immigrants and those visitors who come here to work or study must make all immigration arrangements before arriving in Canada. No one may change his or her status while inside Canada. Remember that money can't buy your way into Canada. All the help you need is free at any Canadian Government visa office or Canada Immigration Centre.

Canadian immigration officers do not discriminate on the grounds of colour, race or religion. Ever. A new adjudication system gives greater protection to the civil rights of people involved in immigration proceedings. And deportation will no longer be the only possible penalty. There are now less drastic alternatives for minor infractions of immigration law. The new law does not make immigration easier, but it does make it more predictable. If you need to know more, ask at a Canada Immigration Centre.

If you know someone abroad who needs information, tell them to contact their Canadian Government visa office before they make a move. That way, they'll know exactly where they stand when they step off the plane.

Write 1,500 words (more or less) on the topic: Spring. That's been my self-imposed task this week, and so far I'm falling miserably. Oh, there's signs of spring, right enough—the double rainbow (followed by the wild, pelting sleet storm that almost brought traffic to a standstill), the gradually sprouting and unfurling tulips and daffodils in town (while my own are serrated, if not down-right ragged from those blinking, meandering, marauding, wayfaring rabbits.)

And because it's spring, two coyotes stretched out on top of a straw stack up the road to watch the traffic go by from their vantage point. It was the twitching of four pointy ears that alerted me to their presence as I drove by. And speaking of coyotes, a person can't ignore their spring songs wafting on the open windows at night.

Then there are robins and crocuses and swallows, and flocks of high-flying geese and swans to verify the season. And of course foals, calves, lambs, and the like.

There's the magnetic pull of spring-scented air that draws me out of the door a dozen times a day to look for an excuse to leave housework or paperwork and putter outdoors.

There's grass and more grass, growing so fast someone has to cut a bit of lawn each day to keep ahead of it.

Spring. It's going for a walk to observe signs of new growth, but forgetting to wear rubber boots, and having to walk constantly looking downwards so as not to end up in mud to the ankles.

It's the kittens exploring the great outdoors, delighting in every bug and beetle that passes their way.

And dogs looking foolish, lying on their backs in the sun to let the new-found warmth hit their bellies.

It's bicycles, kites, skateboards, rubber boots, sunglasses, milkshakes, rodeos, chariot races, and so on.

I could write indefinitely and never, ever catch that magical, mystical, elusive thing that makes spring what it is. Don't let anybody try to tell you that spring is just a season. All you have to do is step outside when that spring magic is working and you'll fall in love with the world all over again.

96th birthday

A recent resident of Acton, Frederick Babbidge celebrated his 96th birthday on Sunday. Mr. Babbidge lives with his daughter Blodwen, Mrs. Harold Morris, and Mr. Morris on Elmora Dr. Family members and friends gathered to offer birthday congratulations on this special milestone. Mr. Babbidge is very spry and active for his age, and in August he plans to cross the Atlantic to England for the 32nd time.

He was born in Oswestry, Shropshire, England, on June 8, 1882. He and Ellen Porter were married in Spaxton, Somerset, England, in 1904. Mrs. Babbidge passed away in December of 1969 at the age of 89. They came to Canada in 1907 and settled on Mount Hamilton. Mr. Babbidge was a builder and contractor for many years. He built his home when he was 30 and lived there until the age of 94. Then he came to live in Acton with his daughter.

He also has a son, John, of Lowbanks, Ontario, eight grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

MR. AND MRS. Harry Brewes of Acton wish to announce the forthcoming marriage of their son Michael Harry to Miss Kimberley Ann Kristoff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kristoff of Barrie. Marriage to take place at Trinity United Church, Acton, on Saturday, July 1, at 4 p.m.
