Walter Bidula, George Barnes; front row, left to right, Morris Courtney and Tom Gibbons. Earl West, another retiree, is not in the photo.

TWO FORMER TANNERS had a chance to talk before the dinner was served at the Beardmore retirement party last Thursday. W. J. Finley and A.S. Ware share stories.

JOHN GREER AND JOSEPH Molnar have a chat at the Beardmore retirement party held last Thursday at the tannery.

Next week
There were quite a few events in town the past week which our photographers attended. However, there wasn't room in today's Free Press for all of them. Some pictures of school events will appear next week.

The company

Beneath the Norway maples,
In almost perfect weather,
Tall tales were told by men of old,
As they gathered there together.

It was the company's annual picnic,
For the ones outside the fold,
That honoured guest who now must rest,
Was telling tales of old.

Tall tales with happy memories,
By tanners large and small,
With their battle scar's and big cigars,
They were having quite a ball.

They were laughing at the future,
And how long they would last,
With some white hair, most scalps bare,
As they waded through the past.

Stout hearts filled with memories,
That bring joy and sadness too,
Now living from the harvest,
Of the winter they went through.
