

All new-car loans are not the same. At Toronto Dominion, the rate is just 11½%. At some places you pay as much as 14½% or more. On a $5,000 loan over 36 months that loan will cost you $1,195.60. At TD, the same loan at 11½% costs just $935.68.

The difference is $259.92.

Quite a difference.

So, before you go shopping for that new car, shop around for the best rate on new-car loans. And make sure TD is on your shopping list.

You'll also find TD rates are fully competitive on other Cash-flow personal loans, too. If you need a loan, see TD.
