

*For a wee foal
life is full of fun
and games*

NOT TO BE LEFT BEHIND, this foal learns quickly to keep pace with his mother. In a short time, however, it will be weaned from the mare and learn to be on his own. For the time being, owner Cindy Watson puts the two out together so the three-week-old can learn all about the outside world with the security of having his mother around.

— Photos by Linda Kirby —

WITH THE WIND in his tail and an open field of dandelions, this little fellow is off at full speed, as he experiences the joy of a gallop on a summer morning. Most equine youngsters tend to stick fairly close to their mothers, but every once in a while, they will suddenly kick up their heels and take off to discover the limits of the field.