Minor Baseball Winners

J-T takes title in mixed league

Acton Minor Baseball held its fun day and trophy presentations on Saturday, but for the Bantam house league it was the final for their boys' and girls' mixed league.

The first game of best of three series was played last Tuesday. That game was won 16-15 by Carpet Corner.

On Saturday J and T Sports led the series with a 19-17 victory. Later in the afternoon, in the deciding game, J and T won again, this time by a 24-13 count.

Winning pitchers on the Saturday for J and T were Dennis Champagne and Trevor Hoy.

$4,375 grants for parks

The town will receive $4,375 from the provincial Ministry of Culture and Recreation, under the Community Recreation Centres Act.

The grants are divided as follows: $100 to Emmerson Park athletic field, $1,200 to Georgetown Fairgrounds Park, $1,900 to Gordon Alcott athletic field, $100 to Hornby Park athletic field, $50 to Joseph Gibbons Park athletic field, $75 to Lantouchou Park athletic field, and $950 to Prospect Park athletic field.

Intercounty

After eliminating Glen Williams Way-Jays, Cambridge will face either Arkell or Hespeler in the inter-county Fastball League semi-finals. The Arkell-Hespeler series is tied 1-1.

In the other semi-final, Fergus will face Orangeville. Fergus dropped the first game of their quarter-final series 7-3 to Hillsburgh then bounced back to win the series with 7-1 and 7-4 victories. Orangeville ousted Belwood in two straight games, 2-1 and 7-6.

Lloyd Manderson of Fergus has been declared the league's regular season batting champion. Manderson hit .482.

Omagh — Lowville

It certainly was a thriller Monday evening as Lowville and Omagh midget boys battled out seven innings in rain and lightning for the Halton Rural Softball League Championships at Omagh Park.

Omagh's pitcher Don Martin chucked 14 strikeouts in the seven innings but Chuck Meyers and Randy Readhead came home in the fourth inning off a single and double and Wayne Sault's double to take a 2-1 lead.

Martin had scored after being walked in the first inning and it was Martin who created the controversy in the final inning that forced the umpires to call it a day.

Gary Coulson, Les Carver and coach Bruce Carver were ejected from the game after a display of discontent with the umpire after he allowed Don Martin to score the tying run.

With two out and the bottom of the seventh inning, Martin had advanced to third on a hit and two stolen bases, Mike Gracey of Omagh was then given a base on balls just before Martin took off for home. Lowville argued the umpire had called "time out" and that Martin should be returned to third base.
